BRIEF RESPITE: Kevin Lewis, a member of the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department in Pontoon Beach, takes a break during a fire training session Saturday. A basement in the house was set ablaze on Wilson Heights Road near Collinsville. The training was put on by the University of Illinois and the Madison County Firefighters Association and included firefighters from nine area departments.

Landfill need, site attacked

By John Milazzo
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — Both the need for and location of a proposed new landfill on the southern edge of Madison County near Horseshoe Lake were attacked Monday in the final day of testimony in a county hearing on the issue.

With testimony concluded, the Madison County Board now has 90 days to assess the recommendation of the county's Regional Pollution Control Board and either accept or reject the siting application for a new 210-acre waste management facility.

The eight-member pollution control board presided over the state-mandated hearing.

Frank Boyne, a St. Clair County Board member and chairman of that county's Environmental Control Committee, testified that, despite the portrayal of the planned facility as a recycling facility, it is really a landfill and the metropolitan St. Louis area does not need any additional landfill capacity.

Need for new capacity is one of nine criteria outlined by the state as being pertinent in the county's deliberations over whether to approve new or expanded landfills.

Earlier in the three days of testimony, the applicant, Doug Andrews, president of Springfield-based Environmental Control Systems, said the facility would help the county meet tougher state goals for recycling.

Over the next five years, the state has mandated a reduction through recycling of 25 percent of the volume of waste now going into landfills.

Andrews said earlier in the hearings that the combination recycling/compacted-bale landfill operation would achieve 35 percent volume reduction when started and that he was confident this percentage would be improved upon as the system is fine-tuned.

But Boyne, who is also a member of Gov. James R. Thompson's task force on landfill siting reform, said the application submitted for the project does not contain "the facts and figures to support" Andrews' volume reduction claims.

Boyne called attention to a report released by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency. He quoted the report as saying that, since implementation of a new state law banning yard wastes from landfills, there has been a "stark decline" in volume going into existing facilities.

Also, Boyne said, based on his seven years of experience on landfill and solid waste issues, he sees no way the proposed facility could be operated at a profit without significant importation of waste from outside the Metro East area.

"As far as I'm concerned, this is for imported waste.

"In the landfill business, you're talking about millions and, millions and millions of dollars.

"This has turned into a very lucrative field and there are a

Mitchell man accused of murdering resident

By David Migoya
Staff writer

BELLEVILLE — A 37-year-old Mitchell man pleaded innocent Saturday to charges he shot and stabbed a 32-year-old Granite City man and dumped the body in a field.

Police found the body of Ricky J. Muckenstrum, of the 2500 block of Parkview Drive, on July 11 in a field on Bend Road in Stites Township, St. Clair County.

St. Clair Coroner Rick Stone said Muckenstrum died of a gunshot wound to the brain. Muckenstrum also had been stabbed in the throat and abdomen, Stone said.

John E. Ashburn, of 723 E. Chain of Rocks Road, was ordered jailed, with bond set at $560,000, on Saturday by St. Clair County Associate Judge James Radcliffe.

Ashburn was arrested late Friday by investigators from the St. Clair Sheriff's Department.

Ashburn is charged with first-degree murder and concealment of a homicide.

A preliminary hearing on the evidence is scheduled for this Friday, Oct. 5, court records show.

At the time the body was found, police said they believed Muckenstrum was killed at about 4:20 p.m. They declined to speculate on where the slaying occurred.

The location where he was found is near Illinois 203 and near the city of Madison and Madison County.

Detectives with the Illinois State Police Department's Division of Criminal Investigation testified at the inquest that they were checking on two possible suspects. The inquest jury rec-

ROY HAHN of Jim Pagen Bricklaying of Marine levels off a corner of the new drive-through at the soon-to-be-rebuilt McDonald's Restaurant on Johnson Road.

McDonald's being rebuilt

GRANITE CITY — The McDonald's restaurant at 1515 Johnson Road will soon become Golden Arches of the past.

The restaurant is being rebuilt just behind its present site, and the current building will be demolished sometime after the first of the year. The new restaurant is open. The target opening date is Jan. 1, according to site superintendent Tom Glaze.

The restaurant is considered too small and outmoded by its owners, the McDonald's Corp.

The new operation will be as big as the newer McDonald's restaurant in Granite City, at 21st Street and Madison Avenue, and the restaurant will also have a similar design, including a double drive-through, plans show.

General contractor is Arthur Ostmann of St. Charles, Mo.

The present location, estimated at 25 years old, will become landscaping, curbing and parking for the new site, builders said.

The work began a few weeks ago with the razing of the Jox Lounge, just to the rear of McDonald's.

The permit for the work shows the cost of the project is $325,000.

The new front of the restaurant will be almost exactly where the rear of the building is now, said John Jakich, Granite City building inspector.

The structure will be set back approximately 115 feet from the sidewalk.

The property design shows a second entrance and exit behind the neighboring Ponderosa restaurant, leading to Nameoki Road.

The plans, filed about one month ago, show extensive parking space, primarily around the Jox Lounge area, on both sides of the building and to the rear, Jakich said.

McDonald's asked for a building permit to remodel the establishment last year, but later withdrew the application in favor of a brand-new building, city officials said.

Blessing of animals planned

GLEN CARBON — The Madison County Humane Society and St. Cecilia Catholic Church will co-sponsor a Blessing of the Animals ceremony at 1 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 7, in the north parking lot of the church.

The ceremony marks the beginning of World Prayer for Animals Week. The public is encouraged to bring pets, although dogs must be leashed. For more information, the Madison County Humane Society can be called at 656-4405.

JFK Dinner planned Oct. 27

EDWARDSVILLE — The annual John F. Kennedy Memorial Champagne Dinner Dance will be held Oct. 27 at the Meridian Ballroom at campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

U.S. Sen. J. Robert Kerrey, D-Nebraska, will be the principal speaker. Sen. Kerrey is a former governor of Nebraska and was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor during the Vietnam War.

Cocktails will begin at 6 p.m. and dinner will be served at 7 p.m. Dancing will follow the program.

Tickets may be purchased by calling the Dinner Committee chairman, George Donohoo, at 254-[illegible]. Tickets will also be available at the door.

5 October blood drives set

GRANITE CITY — The American Red Cross will conduct five blood drives here in October.

The first, on Oct. 4, is sponsored by A.O. Smith Corp. and will be held from 12:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. in the company cafeteria. A.O. Smith is located at 3101 Illinois Route 3.

The next three drives, all sponsored by Granite City Steel, will be held at three locations. On Oct. 16, a drive will be held at the Granite City Works Office Cafeteria, 20th Street and Madison Avenue, from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. On Oct. 17, drives will be conducted from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Granite City Steel Blast Furnace on Edwardsville Road and from noon to 6 p.m. at the Granite City Steel General Office Cafeteria, 20th and State streets.

The final drive of October will be a Halloween theme drive at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College on Oct. 30. Sponsored by the BAC Student Senate, the drive will be held from 1 to 6 p.m. in the school's gym. The drive is being conducted in memory of former BAC Police Academy Director William Burns.

Polish-American Month set

BELLEVILLE — The Metro-East Polish-American Community will commemorate President George Bush's proclamation of October as Polish-American Month with activities on Oct. 7.

The Polish clergy of the diocese of St. Louis and Belleville will celebrate a 3 p.m. Mass at St. Stanislaus Kostka, 1413 N. 20th St. in St. Louis.

A dinner and program will be held at 5 p.m. at the Towne Hall-North, 8301 N. Broadway, St. Louis. The guest speaker will be Stanley J. Glod, the chairman of the Foreign Claims Settlement Division of the U.S. Justice Department.

State offices to be closed

SPRINGFIELD — All Secretary of State offices and facilities will be closed Monday, Oct. 8, for Columbus Day, Secretary of State Jim Edgar announced.

He said the holiday is observed by all state agencies. The offices will resume business on Tuesday, Oct. 9.

College kids as commuters

Reasons college students stay at home and commute back and forth to classes are as varied as the students themselves.

Those reasons range from the obvious — it's close to home and it's cheaper than going away — to the not so obvious — being closer to the job that helps pay for the college degree and a particular program offered by a certain school. Read the continuing series in Sunday's Journal.

Attacks 2 with bat, man faces battery charges

By John Milazzo
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — A 23-year-old Granite City man acquitted last October of murder in the stabbing death of his stepfather has again been charged in a violent confrontation.

Scott Dwayne Cookson was charged last week with two counts of aggravated battery and one count of criminal damage to property in criminal informations filed in the Madison County Circuit Court.

The charges arise from an incident on Pontoon Road in front of the former Nameoki Elementary School on July 3, said Granite City Police Detective Michael Murgic.

A jury last year determined Cookson acted in self-defense June 17, 1989, when he stabbed Gary Edie, 44, twice with a butcher knife in the kitchen of a mobile home the two shared in the 1300 block of Rhodes Street in Granite City.

Witnesses in Cookson's murder trial testified Cookson believed Edie was responsible for Cookson's mother's death in a December 1988 car accident near Staunton and had vowed to kill Edie.

Others testified that Edie, who was much larger that Cookson, had been physically beating Cookson in a dispute involving a woman Edie invited to spend the night at the mobile home.

There was also testimony that Cookson called for help and attempted to administer mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to Edie after the stabbing.

Murgic said charges only recently were filed in the July 3 incident because of the time needed to collect statements from the victims and witnesses.

According to police reports, Cookson beat Kevin Woodson, 23, and his brother, Mark Woodson, 26, with a baseball bat following a traffic altercation.

"Apparently the driver of the car that Cookson was riding in had to slam on his brakes for the Woodson car and some words were exchanged.

"Both drivers pulled over and the passengers got out. At that time, the alleged beating took place," Murgic said, adding that the passengers in the two vehicles were not acquainted.

Cookson also is charged with criminal damage to property for breaking out the headlights and repeatedly striking Mark Woodson's wife's 1986 Honda Civic with the bat.

The two brothers were treated for their injuries and released at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Murgic said.

Bail on the charges was set at $25,000 by Circuit Judge Andreas Matoesian. Cookson was not yet in custody late last week.

Man strikes paramedic during examination

A man who had been injured in an earlier incident apparently took out his anger on a paramedic who was attempting to help him at 6 p.m. Sept. 27.

James Michael McBroom, 37, of Festus, Mo., was booked for battery following the incident. Police officers and an ambulance were called to an address in the 2000 block of Missouri Avenue, where the resident said McBroom had come to the house saying he had been battered at the Curve Inn on Missouri Avenue and requesting an ambulance.

Greg Nighohossian of the Granite City Fire Department was trying to inspect McBroom's injuries when the man began to act irritated but also said he wanted to be treated.

While Nighohossian was examining him, McBroom allegedly raised his arm, struck the paramedic with his hand and was arrested. McBroom was transported by squad car to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was treated for injuries incurred at the tavern.

While he was at the emergency room, a Madison County deputy sheriff talked with McBroom about the tavern incident, which had occurred outside the Granite City department's jurisdiction.

McBroom was taken to police headquarters, where he posted $102 bail and was released, pending a hearing.

Man booked on warrant

Ricky Ray, 30, of the 3800 block of Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, was arrested Sept. 25 on a warrant for aggravated battery. The warrant stemmed from an incident Sept. 27 in which Ray allegedly severely beat Brenda Miller at her residence in the 1700 block of State Street.

Order violation alleged

David A. Shearlock, 52, of the 3900 block of Village Lane was charged with violation of a court order of protection issued to Joyce Shearlock. He was charged also with failure to appear in court to face a previous charge of violating an order of protection.

Arrested for burglary

Richard W. Ferris, 25, of the 1400 block of Iowa Street was arrested Sept. 25 on a warrant charging him with residential burglary stemming from an incident Sept. 19 in which Ferris allegedly climbed in through a second-floor window at a residence in the 2100 block of Cleveland Boulevard. He was charged in a second warrant with failure to appear in court to face a charge of burglary.

Police find marijuana

Raymond L. Johndrow, 29, of St. Louis was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and unlawful possession of marijuana Sept. 25.

Granite City police said Johndrow was stopped after he was spotted weaving across the center line of West Pontoon Road at Missouri Avenue. He was taken to the police station and an officer said he found in the police cruiser a bag with a small amount of marijuana.

The motorist was released on $352 bail.

Driver booked for DUI

Bradley W. Lane, 29, of the 2800 block of Indiana Avenue was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol Sept. 26 after a policeman saw him allegedly speeding on 27th Street near Grand Avenue.

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Pursuant to law public notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to the Illinois Constitution will be submitted to the electors of the State of Illinois for adoption or rejection at the General Election to be held on November 6, 1990.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTION 8 OF ARTICLE IX (Delinquent Tax Sales)

(Proposed changes in the existing constitutional provision are indicated by underscoring all new matter and by crossing with a line all matter which is to be omitted.)

ARTICLE IX REVENUE

SECTION 8. TAX SALES

(a) Real property shall not be sold for the nonpayment of taxes or special assessments without judicial proceedings.

(b) (1) The right of redemption from all sales of real estate for the nonpayment of taxes or special assessments, except as provided in subsections (c) and (d) paragraph (2) of this subsection (b), shall exist in favor of owners and persons interested in such real estate for not less than 2 two years following such sales.

(c) The right of redemption from the sale for nonpayment of taxes or special assessments of a parcel of real estate which: (1) is vacant non-farm real estate or (2) contains an improvement consisting of a structure or structures each of which contains 7 or more residential units or (3) is commercial or industrial property; shall exist in favor of owners and persons interested in such real estate for not less than one year following such sales.

(d) (2) The right of redemption from the sale for nonpayment of taxes or special assessments of a parcel real estate which: (1) (A) is vacant non-farm real estate or (2) (B) contains an improvement consisting of a structure or structures each of which contains 7 or more residential units or (3) (C) is commercial or industrial property; and upon which all or a part of the general taxes for each of 2 5 or more years are delinquent shall exist in favor of owners and persons interested in such real estate for not less than 6 months 90 days following such sales.

(e) (c) Owners, occupants and parties interested shall be given reasonable notice of the sale and the date of expiration of the period of redemption as the General Assembly provides by law.

SCHEDULE

This Constitutional Amendment takes effect upon approval by the electors of this State.

FORM OF BALLOT

The proposed amendment to Article IX will appear upon the ballot in the following form:

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTION 8 OF ARTICLE IX (Delinquent Tax Sales)

EXPLANATION OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT

The proposed amendment deals with the problem of tax sale delinquency on commercial, industrial, vacant non-farm, and large multi-unit residential properties. The amendment has no effect on single family homes, farmland, or apartment buildings of 6 units or less.

The amendment would permit the legislature to reduce the redemption period following a tax sale of commercial, industrial, vacant non-farm or multi-unit residential property. The redemption period is the period of time the delinquent owner has following a tax sale to pay the delinquent taxes and prevent the transfer of title to a new owner.

Under the amendment the legislature could reduce the redemption period on the specified classes of property from 2 years to 6 months if the property is 2 or more years delinquent. Currently, the Illinois Constitution permits a shorter redemption period only if the property is 5 or more years delinquent. The amendment would also allow a one year redemption period, rather than the current 2 years, if these properties are tax delinquent for at least one year.

Illinois law already provides for multiple notices to delinquent owners and court procedures before a tax deed can be obtained. This amendment would not change these protective notices or court procedures.

Punch the number opposite "YES" or "NO" to indicate your choice.

For the proposed amendment to Section 8 of Article IX of the Constitution to authorize the General Assembly to reduce the redemption period following tax sales on delinquent commercial, industrial, vacant non-farm and larger multifamily residential properties only.	YES

Aircraft carrier site of 'Papa' Papa's family reunion

By Bob Slate
For the Journal

MADISON — Bill Papa was provided a unique experience recently, compliments of the United States Navy.

Two of Papa's sons, Bradley, age 21, and Brian, age 24, are in the Navy. Approximately every three years, the Navy hosts a "Tiger cruise," where crew members of ships are permitted to sponsor male relatives for transit from Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, to Alameda, Calif.

This year, the "Tiger cruise" took place July 24 through July 29 with three of the Papa clan aboard the Navy aircraft carrier USS Carl Vinson.

Bradley had been aboard the Vinson on a six-month assignment which began in February, taking him over 45,000 miles to the Sea of Japan, the Indian Ocean, the North Arabian Sea and Australia.

Brian joined his brother when his squadron, VAW 114, was deployed to the Vinson in the Indian Ocean in mid-May.

The two brothers were together for the next two months. The assignment was completed upon the big vessel docking in Hawaii on July 23.

The next day, father Bill joined them, along with 847 other civilians, for the week-long "Tiger cruise."

While it is unusual for siblings to be assigned to the same ship, since the Sullivan family tragedy in which five brothers were killed in World War II, it is not necessarily policy to keep brothers apart. Bill Papa made little of the coincidence.

"They enjoy being together, and I enjoyed the opportunity to be with them.

"Their home base is in Miramar, Calif., a place the Navy calls 'Fighter Town, USA' because of the pilot training which goes on there.

"They live about one-half block from each other. Brian and Bradley get to do things together. If they were apart, they could not.

"There was never a dull moment on the cruise," the elder Papa said.

"Each day I would see Brian and Bradley. When they went about their jobs there were tours for us. I got to see the daily operations of the 'best ship in the Pacific Fleet'."

Among the facts that impressed Bill Papa were the size and capabilities of the Vinson. The flight deck is four and one-half acres. The carrier holds over 85 aircraft (including the F-14 Tomcat, upon which Bradley works in electronics).

The ship is manned by 5,800 Navy personnel.

"It was like a floating city," Papa recalls. "When you consider the number of people on the ship, it was more than in the entire city of Madison.

"There were stores on the ship where I could purchase clothes, candy, ice cream — the only thing they lacked was a swimming pool."

Papa said the accommodations were first-rate.

While some people might perceive military or naval "mess" as being somewhat unappetizing, Bill related that the meals consisted "mostly of steak, lobster and shrimp — and it was very good."

Some aspects of life at sea were a little less pleasant, however.

"Bradley told me that it was standard operating procedure to have a 'man overboard' drill each time the ship embarks, so that all persons could be accounted for and in the right place. He told me that I should come to his station when they had the drill.

"At 3 a.m. on that Thursday morning I awoke to hear a signal and saw all the people around me leaving their berths and filing into the passageways. It was very dark, and I fell in line, following the crowd through the corridors.

"When I reached the bow I remembered what Bradley had told me about meeting him, and of course that was near the stern."

"So, as I was heading for the rear of the ship I noticed all of these men falling into ranks to be counted, and I seemed to be the only one not in place yet.

"And, as I went on, I realized that I was the only one not dressed. Everyone else had clothes and shoes on except me. I was walking the length of the ship in only my underwear. It took me hours to scrub the oil off of the bottom of my feet."

Among the sights that impressed Bill Papa on the carrier were an air show ("the jets take off and land at incredible speeds"), the firing of weapons, and the two anchors which moor the ship, each weighing 30 tons. "Each link of the (anchor) chain weighs about 300 pounds," he noted.

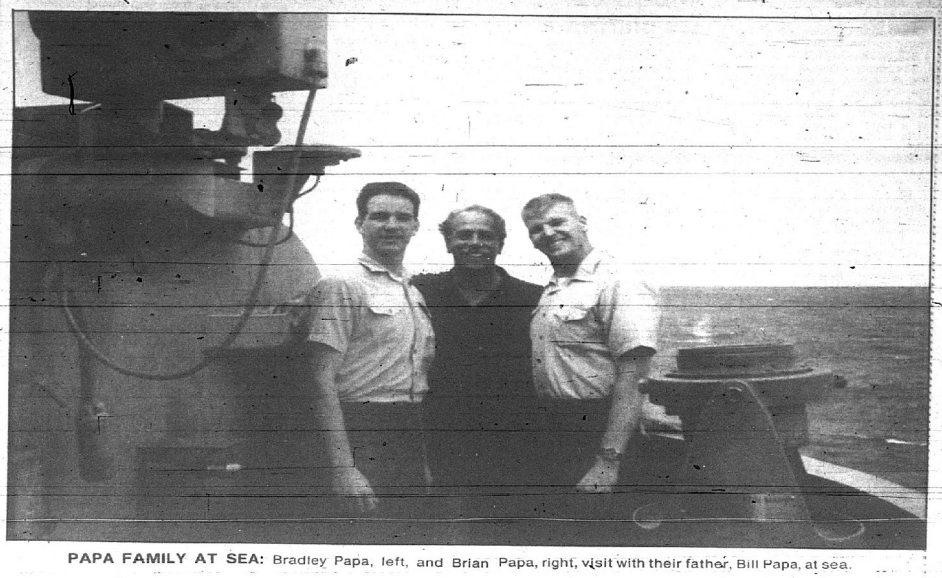

"The carrier is powered by a nuclear propulsion system with enough fuel for 15 years of operations.

"The ship holds all those men, 85 jets, those huge anchors and all of the other machinery, and it not only floats, but travels along at a speed of over 30 knots. It is a truly amazing vessel."

Upon arrival at Miramar on Sunday morning, Bill parted from his sons to fly back to St. Louis.

Brian left for a two-month assignment in Panama, while Bradley departed for Norfolk, Va., via a two-month cruise around South America. Both of the Papa sailors currently plan on making the Navy their careers.

"That's fine with me," said Bill, "and if they have another 'Tiger cruise,' I'll go again."

Tragedies — killing of child, killing by child

By Jim O'Neal
Staff writer

The only tragedy as disheartening as the killing of a child is a killing committed by a child.

The destruction of an innocent life is a loss of possibility, like the freezing of a bud before it blossoms. But the relinquishment of innocence marks a dark turn in a nascent life: A child who kills covers himself in shame, like a sapling transplanted in the shadow of a prison wall.

Innocence destroyed. Innocence relinquished.

The recent killings of two St. Charles boys and a Breckenridge Hills girl sent waves of fear through those communities. The crimes were so shocking and grotesque that they seemed unreal, as if characters in a horror picture had passed through the two-dimensional surface of the screen to ravage unsuspecting moviegoers.

In the days following those crimes, St. Louisans imagined the killers to be madmen — psychotic, amoral beasts worthy of contempt. So the arrest of youthful suspects — the accused killer of the Breckenridge Hills girl is 17, and the boy held in the St. Charles case is only 13 — sent secondary shivers of horror through the community.

We had pulled the masks from anonymous monsters and found frightened children.

Innocence destroyed. Innocence relinquished.

Such events challenge our concepts of childhood and criminality and justice.

Children are so endearing in their freshness and forthrightness. Not having learned to squelch or disguise their feelings, they are forever announcing their joys, their anger, their disappointments.

They can be exasperating, even infuriating, but they certainly are not evil. They can be cruel in their taunts and violent in their conflicts, but we rarely deem them dangerous.

But between childhood and adulthood, between our halcyon days of inculpable selfishness and our emergence as responsible citizens, each of us must somehow navigate the roiling waters of adolescence.

In those years, we naturally rebel against the strictures of parental supervision. At the same time, we learn to discipline ourselves, checking our impulses and taking to heart the needs and rights of others.

So much is happening in that bewildering time. We discover ourselves as unique, independent human beings, capable of making — and accountable for — our own choices.

We discover our sexuality, with its exciting sensations and desires. We assert our freedom to form attachments to people who are entirely outside the sphere of family life.

We confront temptations to embark on mysterious or forbidden adventures — drug-taking, vandalism, pornography, theft. And as we loosen our moorings to parental love, we get our first bitter taste of existential loneliness, of deep-down, grown-up blues.

So many things can go amiss in those years. A mischievous adult- in-the-making, failing to appreciate his power or mortality, may slip into recklessness.

While tacking across the experimental zone between obedience to authority and mature self-control, a teen may half-consciously commit an act of brutality.

Innocence destroyed. Innocence relinquished.

In recent weeks, the fresh faces found beneath the monstrous masks deflated our outrage. After the arrest of the 13-year-old in St. Charles, neighbors of the victims' families told the press they felt vaguely disappointed; the suspect clearly did not merit the indignant fury that had been building in them. Similarly, the 16-year-old girlfriend of the Breckenridge Hills suspect could not square the crime with the guileless drifter she knew.

"I do not believe he would do something like this," she said. "He's pretty normal ... he likes tennis."

We would have preferred to find real monsters — full-grown criminals with shoulders broad enough to bear the weight of hatred and justice.

As it is, we peel off another thin layer of our own innocence and soberly acknowledge the hazards of adolescence — hazards so familiar as to be prosaic.

We sigh resignedly and calmly discuss the evident need for more safeguards — rules and patrols to protect innocent lives, educational and counseling programs to prevent deviant turns of character.

We shrug off our wrath and shake our heads at double tragedies.

Innocence destroyed. Innocence relinquished.

BREAKING UP THE OLD SIDEWALK: City worker Rich Kaiser breaks up the sidewalk on the Delmar Avenue side of Civic Park as part of the city's project to replace and repair sidewalks. Granite City will be replacing the walk on the Delmar and Niedringhaus Avenue sides of the park. Also due to be replaced are walks on both sides of Niedringhaus extending to Madison Avenue. Decorative lighting will be installed around the City Hall. The project, costing a total of $250,000, is expected to be completed by late December.

SIUE offering variety of small-business workshops

The Office of Continuing Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a variety of workshops for owners or potential owners of small businesses during the fall quarter.

The workshops will include sessions on business promotion, newsletter design and publication, small business ownership techniques, and methods of operating a home-based business. They include:

A one-day workshop on publicity for small businesses will meet Saturday, Oct. 6, from noon until 3:30 p.m. in Room 3315 of Peck Classroom Building.

Registration fee for this workshop is $22.

A one-day workshop in editing and designing newsletters will be offered Thursday, Oct. 25, from 7 until 9 p.m. in Room 2415 of Peck Classroom Building.

Topics will include planning, editing, designing, printing and distributing a newsletter. The use of desktop publishing will also be discussed. Registration is $20.

A workshop on operating a home-based business will be conducted on Saturday, Oct. 27, form 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. in Room 0406 of Peck Classroom Building. Participants will learn some of the legalities of operating a business in the home.

Other topics will include zoning regulations, marketing techniques and management of family interruptions. Registration is $35.

All workshops, with the exception of the workshop on newsletters, are co-sponsored by the Small Business Development Center at the university.

The newsletter workshop is being co-sponsored by University Graphics and Publications and by the Office of Academic Marketing.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the SIUE Office of Continuing Education at 692-3210.

35 YEARS OF SERVICE TO THE COMMUNITY

In 1955 Jack Dempsey and Don Adams formed Granite City Glass Co.

They opened in a small unheated building in Izzie McGiff's Junk Yard at the corner of 18th and Cleveland that is now a parking lot for Dron Electric. Windshields were stored at Shelton's Laundry. Deliveries were made with the pair's 1940 Dodge coupe. Fourteen hour work days were common as windows in locomotives were replaced at night at Granite City Steel and in the rail yards.

At the time Granite City Glass was Formed in 1955

★ The AFL-CIO was formed.
★ A craze was sweeping American colleges as students attempted to learn how many people could squeeze into a telephone booth or small car.
★ Marilyn Monroe received 5,000 pieces of fan mail each week and Yogi Berra of the Yankees and Ray Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers were baseball's Most Valuable Players.

In Granite City in 1955

★ The Press-Record headlined that gangster gambling had returned to Venice at a new place next to the viaduct. A few weeks later headlines noted that axe wielding State Troopers had closed this illegal operation.
★ Paddlers Swim Club started its membership drive. Dempsey-Adams delivered the Paddler's sign to a wheat field on Johnson Road.
★ Irv Slate won the $3000 CIO Steelworkers Scholarship and Nelson Hagnauer was elected Assistant Township Supervisor.

Today, 35 years after it was formed Granite City Glass

Specializes in providing specialty glass products for industry. A periscope was designed and constructed for a company that needed to conduct visual inspections of the inside of furnaces that were otherwise inaccessible. Today glass is supplied to home, business and industry.

We sincerely hope that we've contributed to the growth and betterment of the community, to you and your family. We hope that we may continue to serve you in the years ahead and that you, the community and Granite City Glass may continue to grow together.

Frequent urban violence numbs public, harms young witnesses psychologically

By Walter Pritchard
Staff writer

When the body of a 12-year-old Breckenridge Hills girl was found Sept. 17 near a creek not far from her home, the public reaction was one of shock and dismay.

Counselors, the clergy and other emotional support groups immediately went into Ritenour Middle School to help the peers of the victim cope with the tragedy.

The same thing happened a short time earlier when two young boys in St. Charles were killed in what police say was some type of sexual ritual. The public reacted with sympathy and outrage.

But the week before last, when a 14-year-old north St. Louis boy was killed by a stray bullet, a bullet that police say was intended for another person over a $1 debt, there was no outpouring of public sympathy.

Perhaps the media, with its days and days of in-depth coverage of the Breckenridge Hills and St. Charles killings, so aroused public interest that people everywhere became emotionally attached to those cases.

And certainly the mystery surrounding those deaths spawned terror in the two communities: When a killer's identity and motives are unknown, parents naturally fear that their children have become vulnerable targets of violence.

But another difference is that murders and assaults are so common on the city's North Side that the public has become numb to violent crime there, dismissing it as a way of life for ghetto dwellers.

Granted, violent crime is an almost daily reality in the city. Crime statistics from the St. Louis Police Department tell the tale: In 1989, there were 158 murders, 330 rapes and 7,935 aggravated assaults.

But the gruesome numbers don't discount the fact that the children, who often are eyewitnesses to premature death, need the same kind of special attention that youngsters get in other areas of the metropolis.

The St. Louis Public Schools do have a "Crisis Intervention Team" which deals with the emotional needs of the children.

The team consists of counselors, school nurses, psychologists and other professionals.

"They react right away or the next day if something happens that has been disturbing to the youngsters," said Charles Burgess of the school district.

Nonetheless, a generation of kids is growing up with hardened hearts because of constant exposure to crime and death.

To these young people, violent crimes no longer seem heinous. They are the norm. They are a way of life. Maybe the general public has become numb to it, too. Most people feel no inclination to lend emotional support, because crime and murder in the city are "not out of the ordinary."

Just what is an ordinary murder? How does one get used to the stalking presence of fear, fear that one's son or daughter could be next?

An associate professor of sociology at the University of Missouri-St. Louis, who did not want to be identified, said the apparent double standard stems from ingredients in the fabric of our society — classism and racism.

"This is America. This is how we do things," he said.

The sociologist said that people from more affluent communities habitually discount the suffering of inner-city youths, believing that "these kids live with it every day; they can handle it."

He said the self-imposed "isolation" by which suburban youths are barricaded from the violence of the inner city causes tragedy to hit home like a ton of bricks.

When violent crime strikes the cushiony environment of suburban dwellers, their world is shattered. They cry foul.

"The kids in St. Charles and Breckenridge Hills are sheltered from a way of life kids in the city are all too familiar with," he said.

From their place of isolation, he said, parents in more upscale neighborhoods use their position in the community to demand quick justice from law enforcement. They also can command massive media attention, something that parents in the city cannot do, he said.

But inner-city residents "suffer just as much," he said.

Many college students find it is better to live at home

By Terry Rau
Staff writer

(Second of a series)

Reasons college students stay at home and commute back and forth to classes are as varied as the students themselves.

Those reasons range from the obvious — it's close to home and it's cheaper than going away — to the not so obvious — being closer to the job that helps pay for the college degree and a particular program offered by a certain school.

Dr. Arlene Taich, dean of academic admissions at Lindenwood College in St. Charles, said many Lindenwood students don't feel they have an option in going away to school.

"They want to stay in the metropolitan St. Louis area because they have a job or family responsibilities," she said.

"Lindenwood has a long history of commuting students, even long before it was in vogue for other schools," Taich said.

Currently, the college has about 300 daytime, commuting students. Taich said another 100 attend evening classes due to daytime jobs. She estimated the split between St. Louis County and St. Charles County residents is roughly 50-50.

Taich said Lindenwood's "large variety" of programs suits students' needs. Scholarships also attract students.

"Many schools don't offer scholarships to commuter students on the same basis as residential students. Lindenwood does that," Taich said.

Most of the approximately 11,000 students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville are commuting students, according to Richard Dremuk, assistant vice president for admission and retention. He said they commute "for a whole host of reasons."

"For some it's the cost. They can't afford to go away. Others prefer not to go away but to live at home and study. Some might find an academic program particularly strong or unique. Our engineering and business programs are strong in this part of the state," Dremuk said.

He added that SIUE draws a large number of students from Missouri but most of the students are from a 14-county area in southwestern Illinois.

Kathy Canda, associate director of admissions at Maryville College in west St. Louis County, said roughly two-thirds of the 800 to 900 students in the 18-to 22-year-old range at the school commute to classes. She, too, said there are many reasons students choose to commute.

"It may be location, a program, a friend, her mom or sister went here or she may just like the private school environment. It's small," Canda said.

The University of Missouri-St. Louis student population is slightly more than 13,200. Most of the students commute, according to Mimi LaMarca, director of admissions.

LaMarca reiterated her counterparts' reasons for students commuting.

Commuting To Class

"Some students prefer to live at home and go to school. Cost is a factor. To go away can be more expensive. And, there are financial reasons. Some students need to work and they are coming to this campus," LaMarca said.

Neal Mattingly, a 21-year-old Lindenwood senior, chose to stay at home and commute to college because it was close to his employment.

Mattingly lived on campus for a while but decided it was an easier commute to work from home. He works 30 hours a week, which has posed no difficulty for him grade-wise, he said. The history major, who expects to graduate in the spring, carried a 3.3 grade point average last year.

He did admit his mother worked at Lindenwood "and it was the best economic deal."

Dexter Hardiman, 22, of Alton commutes to classes at SIUE from his apartment in Edwardsville.

"Most students commute because it's more convenient to stay at home. The school is in an area where people from Missouri and Illinois can commute," said the senior political science and speech communication major.

Andre Reed, a 21-year-old SIUE senior majoring in chemistry, commutes to classes from his Alton home. He has attended SIUE for four years and has commuted the 17 miles to classes by bus.

He said he chose the university "because it's close — and I can ride the bus.

"I wanted to be close to home, where I could commute and not have too much trouble," Reed said.

Greg Jacknewitz is an 18-year-old Lindenwood freshman who commutes from his Ferguson home. His track coach, Gary White at St. Louis Prep, talked to him about attending Lindenwood and Jacknewitz said he'd heard a lot about the school.

"They want the athletes to live on campus but I wanted to live at home for some reason. It is cheaper. You can't beat that," Jacknewitz admitted.

Katie Dalton, 22, of Richmond Heights commutes about 10 minutes to classes at UMSL, where she is a senior majoring in English. She spent her freshman year at the University of Missouri-Columbia and found that campus too big.

"After going away to such a large school, I was really looking for something small, something I could feel more stable with," Dalton said. "I'm interested in living at home, I enjoy living at home. I enjoy having my parents there, having family around me.

"Columbia was a big difference from high school. I was interested in settling down and finding out what I really wanted. I was looking for something more personable. I'm very happy here."

Holly Peterson, an 18-year-old freshman at Maryville, said she chose the school for "a couple of reasons."

"First of all, money; it's cheaper and just as easy to drive home and come back. For ease is probably one of the main reasons. I also chose Maryville because of its PT (physical therapy) program mainly. It's got a great PT program. I can enter as a freshman and graduate in 4½ years. My uncle graduated from Maryville and he was influential."

Peterson, a resident of Ballwin, stayed on campus during orientation and met many of the students then.

"It's working out real well. A lot of people I met here on campus are far away from home and they will come home with me on weekends," she said.

"I'm really happy with my decision."

Annie can't afford to live here anymore.

Imagine not being able to afford even a place like Annie's! Luckily, Annie's family found temporary housing at a United Way supported Salvation Army Emergency Family Shelter instead of having to move into the streets. The shelter has programs to help parents overcome the problems of homelessness. Thanks to your gifts, Annie's next move could be the best she ever made.

Career programs emphasized

By Lois Kendall
Staff writer

Two-year career programs are doing a booming business at the three St. Louis Community College campuses. Each campus features specialized programs geared to specific career fields.

The Forest Park campus offers diverse programs such as funeral services, hospitality and restaurant management and allied health programs.

Meramec offers horticulture, occupational and physical therapy, a dental lab technician program and aviation technology.

Florissant Valley offers child care, dietetic technology and engineering technology.

Jerry Henderson, associate dean of allied health at Forest Park, says the health field programs range from one-semester to two-year programs in a broad range of specialties.

"We have programs for dental assistants, clinical lab technicians, respiratory therapists, phlebotomists and others," he says. "Right now, there's strong interest in the allied health field because of its improved salary outlook and shortages of workers."

Job placement in the health specialties is 100 percent, Henderson says. "Just about every student available for graduation is placed, many before the end of the term. Some have multiple job offers."

Many graduates of four-year colleges are now returning to school and entering career programs, Henderson says.

"A bachelor's degree is very important, but, depending on the field you're looking at, the economy is slow and soft in many sectors," he says. "When graduates can't find a job in their career field in six months, they begin looking around for other options."

The allied health program has a capacity of 400 students, and Henderson says he expects it to be filled to capacity for at least the next four years.

"Some of the programs fill out before school even starts," Henderson says. "Students interested in these programs need to apply early."

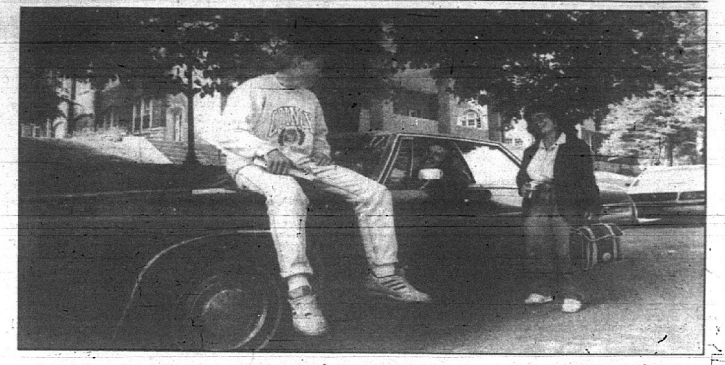

Paul Roberts, associate professor and director of the horticulture program at Meramec, says the average age of his students is early 30s.

"I think students just out of high school are not always aware of our career programs," Roberts says. "I've had many students say they never realized horticulture was a possible career."

That lack of awareness has contributed to a shortage of workers in the field, creating a tremendous demand. Job placement for those completing the two-year program is 95 to 100 percent, Roberts says. There are about 125 students enrolled in the program.

"These are students who want to get out of school and into the work force," Roberts says. "Many are entering their own businesses, and feel a four-year degree is not necessary to do this line of work. Many others have quit their jobs to come back to school full time, so they have to be very committed to do that."

Henderson says that while the community college career programs attract a wide cross-section of students, their common denominator is their seriousmindedness. He says, "Their goal in school is to get a job. Their training here is their passport to that job."

Banner contest for Fire Week

In conjunction with Fire Prevention Week, the Granite City Fire Department is sponsoring a banner contest for first and second graders.

Chief Jerry Wallace said all grade schools in Granite City have been asked to participate.

Each class will make a banner related to the theme, "Fire safety begins in the home." Starting Oct. 10, the banners will be displayed in stores and banks.

The banners will be judged and a first and second prize will be awarded in each of the two grades. The winning classes, Wallace said, will be invited to the main firehouse to have lunch with the firefighters.

Also during Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 7-13, all three Granite City fire stations will hold open house from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 6 p.m. Extrication and equipment will be demonstrated at 5:30 p.m. Oct. 9 at the main station on Madison Avenue.

Fire safety literature and "tot finders" will be given and smoke alarms will be sold for $6.

Earthquake watchers still keeping a wary eye on Dec. 3

By Liz Quirin
Staff writer

Last Wednesday's earth tremors added fuel to the fires of concern over what some people believe to be an impending earthquake on or around Dec. 3.

Bill Schreiber, coordinator of the St. Clair County Emergency Services and Disaster Agency, said that he hopes people would be prepared for any disaster and not just concentrate on one that may or may not happen in December.

Iben Browning, a climatologist and microbiologist, has attracted national attention by making predictions about an earthquake that he claims has a 50 percent chance of occurring Dec. 3.

Browning's predictions received more attention after he was credited with correctly predicting the October 1989 earthquake in San Francisco.

The earthquake that occurred Wednesday at about 8:20 a.m. registered 4.6 on the Richter Scale, but that was at the epicenter, near Cape Girardeau, not locally, Schreiber said.

"The farther away you are from the center, the less damage occurs. Here, it may not even have been measurable," he said.

However, he and Bill Gamblin, ESDA communications officer, agreed that the soil in Metro East would allow shock waves from an earthquake to travel to a considerably larger area, especially in floodplains.

Schreiber said his office received 25 to 30 calls Wednesday about the earthquake. People wanted to make sure it had happened, Schreiber said.

Gamblin has scheduled 13 days of presentations to schools, day care centers, hospitals and companies "that have expressed an interest in earthquake preparedness information."

Illinois State Police Sgt. Dave Jung is also conducting meetings on earthquake preparedness. Jung has held meetings throughout the county to inform the public about earthquake preparedness, Schreiber said.

"In the past, public forums have been poorly attended, but everyone has been surprised by the turnout at these meetings," he said.

Schreiber said he believed about 450 people went to a meeting held in Mascoutah and close to 1,000 went to one held at Belleville Area College.

Misinformation abounds, however.

Gamblin said that a woman called ESDA to inquire about the earthquake "scheduled" for Dec. 3. "We told her you can't schedule an earthquake and then answered her questions."

"We're at present looking to see where outside help would come from in the event of an earthquake because we'd probably have to take care of ourselves for 72 hours after a disaster hits," Schreiber said.

"ESDA has two messages we want to get out to the public," Gamblin said. "One: we want people to be prepared because all seismologists believe that by the year 2040 there will be a sizable earthquake from 6.0 to 7.5 on the Richter Scale in the New Madrid faykt. We want people prepared for quakes."

"Dec. 3 is not any more of a threat than any other day. It (earthquake) could happen tomorrow or any other day," Gamblin said.

"It's good to plan, but don't panic," Schreiber advised.

One way to prepare for an earthquake is to check on insurance coverage for quakes.

Salvage and Bridges Agency, located at 4520 West Main St. in Belleville, represents about a dozen insurance companies, said Nancy Reinecker, who works for the company.

The average cost of home insurance is 55 cents per $1,000 of value. It would cost $44 per year for an $80,000 home, Reinecker said.

Salvage and Bridges received 30 calls Wednesday about quake coverage. "Clients were calling to check their policies and if they didn't have it, they wanted to add it," Reinecker said.

At Prudential Insurance, 6464 W. Main St. in Belleville, quake coverage was the hot topic of conversation, said Mike Guest, a Prudential agent.

"It took people off the fence about whether to get earthquake coverage," Guest said.

Those interested in information can call ESDA at the St. Clair County Sheriff's Department at 277-3012.

Lupus walk activities start at 11

Pre-walk activities at the Walk for Lupus committee's 7th annual Walk for Lupus at the Forest Park Boathouse area in St. Louis will start at 11 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 6. The walk begins at 1 p.m.

Activities and entertainment will include the Ralph Butler Band, performances by Dance Inc., the Storm Twisters and a magician, and appearances by Fredbird and Ronald McDonald.

Clowns will participate and there will be face painting and carnival games. Also scheduled is a balloon booth for children and adults where, for $3, participants are guaranteed a prize valued at $5 or more.

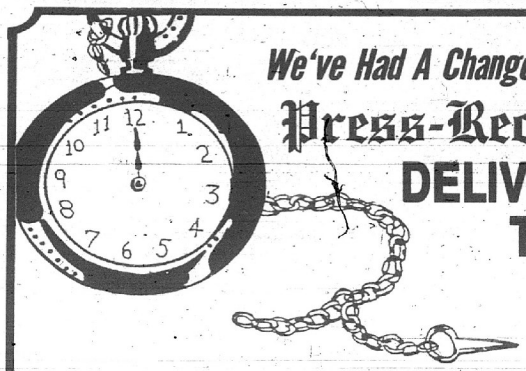

Top money raisers who turn in their sponsor forms will have a chance to win a mobile phone, color television, radio, weekend at Tan-Tar-A Resort, or a night at the Ritz Carlton with dinner at Cardwell's Restaurant.

Everyone raising $20 or more for the drive will receive a T-shirt.

For more information, (314) 432-0008 can be called, officials said.

NOT BAD FOR A FIRST TRY: Lacy Rushing, 66, holds an eight-pound sweet potato that he grew in his garden this summer. Rushing bought a sweet potato last winter at a grocery store and put it in a glass of water. When the potato sprouted vines, he planted the vines in his garden this spring. From one store-bought sweet potato, Rushing harvested 91 pounds of sweet potatoes, the eight-pounder being the largest; the rest averaged three pounds.

Naval-military ball scheduled for Oct. 13 in St. Louis

Adm. Frank B. Kelso II, Navy chief of operations, will be the guest of honor at a black-tie, public Naval-Military Ball Oct. 13 at the Missouri Athletic Club.

A gourmet champagne dinner will be served. For tickets and more information: (314) 522-3515.

Trip to Folklife Festival

On Saturday, Oct. 20, the Walk-On Group, sponsored by Thomas Mortuaries, will visit the historic Folklife Festival in Hannibal, Mo.

The trip promises a full day of excitement. The group will depart from the Nameoki Presbyterian Church parking lot at 6:15 a.m. and return to Granite City at approximately 5 p.m.

The trip to Hannibal and back will be by deluxe motor coach, allowing the participants an opportunity to view the fall foliage along the banks of the Mississippi River.

Upon arriving in Hannibal, the group will tour the Mark Twain Home and Museum and then relive the frontier days of the 1800s at the Folklife Festival in downtown Hannibal.

Visitors will be entertained by roving musicians and dancers while viewing displays of basketry, broom making, candy making, folk painting, Indian jewelry and quilting.

Next, it is on to the Molly Brown Theater, where while enjoying a Missouri baked ham lunch the group will be entertained with a musical trip back in time, starring the characters of Mark Twain.

Members and non-members may attend. The cost of $35 includes the transportation, the tour, the lunch and the show. To reserve a place, persons may call Sheila at Thomas Mortuaries, 876-4321, by Oct. 15.

Library has video workshops

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City Public Library District has added to its special-interest video collection two "video workshops" from the publishers of Fine Homebuilding and Fine Woodworking magazines.

The workshop from Fine Homebuilding includes the titles "Tiling Countertops," "Tiling Walls," "Tiling Floors" and "Making Kitchen Cabinets."

The series from Fine Woodworking contains 13 videos covering topics ranging from wood finishing to bowl turning and from chip carving to furniture repairing.

With these video cassettes, viewers can see actual techniques used in home repair and woodworking. The library's special-interest video collection contains over 200 titles on VHS format, available for seven-day loan.

Another recent addition to the library collection is the National Business Employment Weekly, published by the Wall Street Journal.

This weekly publication includes a list of national job opportunities and a wide variety of job-hunting tips.

Lorene Lancaster

Lloyd Buckingham

Lancaster

Lorene (Walker) Lancaster, 77, of Granite City, formerly of North Venice, died at 10:05 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 30, 1990, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where she had been a patient for one day.

Mrs. Lancaster was born Nov. 19, 1912, in Stroud, Ky., and had lived in Granite City for seven years. She worked as a beautician for 15 years and owned and operated Lorene's Beauty Salon in St. Louis for 10 years. She was of the Protestant faith.

Survivors include her husband, Don, whom she married in 1929 in Venice; two daughters, Mrs. Don (Della) Murphy and Phyllis Lancaster, both of Granite City; two sisters, Nora Birtley of Granite City and Earline Brindley of Belleville; six grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Visitation was held from 4 to 8 p.m. Tuesday at Thomas Memorial Mortuary, 2205 Pontoon Road, where funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. today (Wednesday) by the Rev. Gary Thomas. Burial will be at Eminence Cemetery in Eminence, Mo., where graveside services will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday.

The family suggests memorials to the Disabled American Veterans.

Russell

Following a sudden illness, Winifred Helen (Armbrecht) Russell, 77, of Granite City, formerly of Collinsville, was pronounced dead at her home at 2:10 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 29, 1990, by Deputy Coroner Ed Morton.

Mrs. Russell was born Aug. 1, 1913, in Clemons, Iowa, and had lived in Granite City for the past 10 years. She had been a homemaker and a member of Concordia Lutheran Church, the Ladies Aid Society and the American Association of Retired Persons.

Survivors include two daughters, Judy Russell of Granite City and Mrs. John (Amber) Challifour of Bloomington; one sister, Mary Atwood of Marshalltown, Iowa; and three grandchildren.

Preceding her in death were her parents, Fred and Anna (Hanson) Russell.

Visitation was held from 3:30-7 p.m. Tuesday at Irwin Chapel, 2801 Madison Ave. Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. today (Wednesday) at Concordia Lutheran Church, 2301 Grand Ave., with the Rev. Samuel Boda officiating. Burial will be at Holy Cross Lutheran Cemetery in Collinsville.

The family suggests memorials to the church.

Buckingham

Lloyd O. Buckingham, 78, of Granite City died at 6:21 p.m. Monday, Oct. 1, 1990, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he had been a patient for six days. He had been ill for the past five months.

Mr. Buckingham was born Feb. 25, 1912, in Graves County, Ky., and had lived in Granite City for 50 years. He worked for Jennison-Wright Corp. for 33 years as a high-lift operator, retiring in 1977, and was a member of Second Baptist Church.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Michael (Jean) Jones of Granite City and Mrs. Dale (Dean) Burcham of New Douglas; two brothers, Donald Lee Buckingham of Granite City and John Buckingham of St. Louis; one sister, Louise Mitchell Acocks of Granite City; five grandchildren, two great-grandchildren, several foster grandchildren and one foster great-grandchild.

Visitation will begin at 4 p.m. today (Wednesday) at Thomas Memorial Mortuary, 2205 Pontoon Road. Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday at Second Baptist Church, West 21st Street and Illinois Avenue, with the Rev. Mark Haumschilt officiating. Burial will be at Sunset Hill Memorial Estates near Edwardsville.

Soomro

Evelyn J. (King) Soomro, 32, of Granite City was pronounced dead Friday morning, Sept. 28, 1990, in a field near Madison by Madison County Deputy Coroner Roger Smith. She had died from massive trauma injuries. An article appears elsewhere in today's paper.

Born Nov. 20, 1957, in Granite City, she was a lifelong local resident. She had been a homemaker and was of the Lutheran faith.

Survivors include five sons, John King and David, Tony, Phillip and Brian Soomro, all of Granite City; her mother, Lucille (Whitehead) Moore of Granite City; five sisters, Mrs. Randall (Marcella) Papp and Sarah King, both of Granite City, Mrs. Robert (Lois) Dugan of Madison, Mrs. Clarence (Linda) Nelson of St. Charles, Mo., and Thelma Hollorman of St. Louis; and two brothers, Leonard and Richard King, both of Granite City.

Preceding her in death was her father, Ira King.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Davis Funeral Home, 21st Street and Cleveland Blvd., with the Rev. Leon Belt officiating. Burial was at Sunset Hill Memorial Estates near Edwardsville.

Woman identified, investigation on

By Steve Horrell
Staff writer

MADISON — Police are continuing to investigate the death of a woman whose body was found in a vacant field in Madison last week.

The woman was identified as Evelyn Soomro, 32, of the 1700 block of Edison Avenue in Granite City, the mother of five children, ranging in age from 6 to 14.

Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke said the woman was run over by a car and suffered multiple internal injuries. The body was found about 8:30 a.m. Friday in a field adjacent to Fox Brothers Road in Madison.

Police Chief Charles Bridick said the death is suspicious, but is not being considered a homicide.

Still, the neighbors aren't sure.

Dana Foster, a neighbor who lives next door on Edison Avenue, said he suspected Soomro was killed earlier and then run over by the car.

"She had bruises on her head and I'll bet every bone in her body was broken," Foster said from his home Tuesday.

"Dead bodies don't have bruises. My guess is whoever did it to her wanted to make sure she wasn't going to live," Foster said.

He said he last saw Soomro about 1 a.m. Friday when she came over to borrow cigarettes. She told Foster she had just been to the Top-Top Tavern, 1746 State St., where, she told him, four women had threatened to beat her up.

"The last time I saw her she was walking along the street to El Gato's (Tavern, 18th Street and Delmar Avenue)," Foster said. "I told her to be careful. Apparently she wasn't careful enough."

Foster said he was questioned by police on Sunday. He said Soomro sometimes left for several days at a time and left the children with her live-in boyfriend or other friends.

Soomro was unemployed and receiving Illinois Public Aid and food stamps, he said. The children, all boys, have been placed with relatives in this area, he said.

A toxicology test was conducted by the coroner's office, but the results are not in yet. Time of death was set at 8:40 a.m. Friday by the coroner.

Madison Police Detective Paul Bargiel, who is handling the investigation, could not be reached for comment Tuesday.

Anyone with information concerning the case should contact the Madison Police Department at 876-4300, Bridick said.

Film scenes to be shot at courthouse

EDWARDSVILLE — "The Prosecutor" will be shot at the Madison County Courthouse.

The opening scenes of the low-budget, full-length motion picture will be filmed Oct. 6-8 at the courthouse.

Bear Productions Ltd., a new group of St. Louis filmmakers, will take about 21 days to shoot the movie throughout the St. Louis area.

The $1.2 million film is expected to be released next spring in both the United States and Europe.

Director Ron Littrell said the film is about an assistant prosecutor who becomes intimately involved in the drive-by gang shooting of four St. Louisans: two rival gang members and an innocent mother and daughter.

"The assistant prosecutor in this film is more involved than you would expect an assistant prosecutor would be," Littrell said.

The trial scenes, which will be shot Oct. 6-7, will set the tone for the rest of the film. Other scenes will be shot in the courthouse atrium Oct. 8, Littrell said.

Littrell and Assistant Director Lore Wise filmed a Lennox air-conditioning and heating commercial at the courthouse two years ago and agreed it would be an ideal spot for the trial scenes.

"The courthouse in Edwardsville simply has some of the prettiest, old-fashioned style courtrooms around," Wise said. "It is absolutely gorgeous.

"It has a great look and a great feel.

"The wood is golden oak, which photographs very well. It's set up the way the average person thinks a courtroom looks like."

Although the movie deals with gangs, it's intended to display St. Louis' highlights, Littrell said the movie would have a happy ending.

"We think the St. Louis area merits more attention than it gets," Littrell said.

"The Prosecutor" also is being made to showcase St. Louis film talent.

Littrell and Wise, along with scriptwriter Frank Whitman, Bear Productions President Mike Hartig and Executive Director Harry Johnston, live in the St. Louis area.

"The project of making a film in St. Louis has been in the works for about five years," Littrell said.

"We have an incredible number of talented actors who live in St. Louis, and this is a chance for them."

Two California actors, "Tour of Duty" co-star Ramon Franco and Leoward Holness II, have been hired as the lead gang members, Littrell said.

Most of the other acting roles, including that of the prosecutor, probably will be filled by St. Louis actors, he said.

About 20 actors and 20 crew members will be used during filming, which is expected to take 21 days.

Up to 60 extras may be needed for the courtroom scenes, Littrell said.

People interested in being extras or simply watching production at the courthouse should call Bear Productions at (314) 436-4044.

Souter wins backing of Paul Simon

By Ed Hearn
States News Service

WASHINGTON — U.S. Supreme Court nominee Judge David H. Souter won Thursday the support of U.S. Sen. Paul Simon, a move that could cause him some political fallout with a key abortion rights group opposed to Souter's elevation to the high court.

Simon, an Illinois Democrat running for re-election, announced his decision moments before the Senate Judiciary Committee recommended Souter's confirmation to the full Senate in a lopsided 13-1 vote.

"I will vote for Judge Souter in the hope that the growth that he has shown between his written record and his testimony is only the beginning of his growth," Simon said in a prepared statement.

An official of the National Organization for Women, a major abortion rights lobbying group, said Simon should have joined the panel's lone dissenter, U.S. Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., in rejecting Souter.

"We are disappointed in his vote. We think it is certainly going to affect the energy level of our people in Illinois," said NOW vice president Rosemary Dempsey. "He is in a close race and I think he made a major error."

Dempsey would not say whether NOW would endorse Simon's pro-choice Republican opponent, U.S. Rep. Lynn Martin, of Loves Park, Ill.

Simon, who serves on the Judiciary panel and has a pro-choice record, said his decision was based on the strength of Souter's committee testimony, not on his career as an attorney general, state judge, or federal judge.

"His testimony is better than his record," Simon said.

A day before the Judiciary Committee convened, Simon declined to say how he would vote, only that he was leaning in one direction and would make up his mind Wednesday night at home.

Simon predicted the 14-member committee would recommend Souter's confirmation, saying six Republicans and at least two Democrats would form a majority on the Democratic-controlled panel.

In Senate confirmation hearings that quizzed Souter on a range of constitutional issues, Simon stressed his concern for judicial protection of civil rights and liberties.

Souter, who responded in great detail to some questions, skirted others relating to his personal and legal views on cases that might come before him on the bench, abortion chief among them.

Because he was mostly silent in testimony on the 1973 abortion ruling Roe v. Wade, Souter was immediately opposed by pro-abortion groups for not stating his intention to uphold the ruling that legalized abortion.

"On the basis of his testimony, my guess is that he will uphold Roe v. Wade, though his statements were tentative enough that I understand how reasonable people can reach opposite conclusions," Simon said.

In a Senate floor speech Wednesday, U.S. Alan Dixon, D-Ill., said he would vote to confirm President's Bush first court nominee, calling Souter a fair, able and conservative jurist."

Dixon, who joined Simon in voting against defeated nominee Judge Robert H. Bork in 1987, said he based his decision on Souter's own writings and committee testimony, and the views of the judge's supporters and opponents.

"The nominee has revealed himself to be open, not rigid, not tied to a dead path, but fully aware the Constitution is a living document," the second-term Illinois Democrat said.

Dixon, who alluded to the gaps in Souter's testimony, declared the record showed the 51-year-old New Hampshire federal judge was pragmatic in his approach to individual rights.

"While one never knows how any Justice will decide cases in the future, Judge Souter seems to be a man of character and integrity. His intellect and background are beyond reproach," Dixon said.

U.S. Sens. Bill Bradley and Frank Lautenberg, both New Jersey Democrats, joined U.S. Sen. Barbara Mikulski, D-Md., on Wednesday in announcing their opposition to the Souter nomination, bringing to five the number of Senators to publicly oppose the judge.

Souter was nominated July 23 by Bush after Justice William J. Brennan retired following 34 years on the bench where he wrote majority court opinions in dozens of landmark cases.

Appointed to the U.S. Court of Appeals in April, Souter previously served as New Hampshire attorney general from 1976 to 1978 and as an associate justice on the state's superior and supreme courts from 1978 to 1990.

Under the Constitution, the president has the power to make court nominations with the advice and consent of the Senate.

lot of people who want to get into it," Boyne said.

Boyne also cited a stipulation discussed during the hearings and agreed to by Andrews that the facility would only accept refuse generated within a 100-mile radius.

But, Boyne said, "a 100-mile radius is a lot more distance than we're concerned about for this area."

Boyne was called to testify by the Madison County Conservation Alliance, a group opposed to the new facility.

He said that the plan "is inconsistent with" stated goals and limitations contained in Madison County's long-range solid waste management plan approved in June.

In cross examination, Boyne acknowledged that an application to expand the adjacent Milam Landfill in St. Clair County is pending.

But he said that application is pending before the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, not the St. Clair County Board.

In other testimony, Larry Firkes, a technician for the Madison County Soil and Water Conservation District, said that — contrary to assertions by Andrews — large portions of the proposed site are marshlands and thus meet the definition for protection as federally recognized wetlands.

ommended that authorities continue to investigate the execution-style murder.

Testimony revealed that Muckenstrum was last seen with the suspects in Granite City hours before he was killed.

Officers have said they think the murder occurred after an argument about money.

The shooting victim's blood-alcohol level at the time of his death was more than four times the intoxication level of 0.10 percent.

Relatives said Muckenstrum was unemployed. He was, not married but is survived by a daughter and a son.

475 attend 25th biennial Lutheran Women's meet

More than 475 delegates and guests attended the 25th Biennial Convention of the Southern Illinois District Lutheran Women's Missionary League held Sept. 22 in the Student Center at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

"Your Face, Lord, I Will Seek" was the convention theme. Attending from this area were Rose Kayser and Hilda Klug, delegates of Hope Lutheran Church in Granite City.

Dr. Dale Meyer, Lutheran Hour speaker, gave a slide presentation covering Lutheran Layman's work in East Germany.

Puddin' Krueger of Houston, international treasurer, highlighted current programs and extended an invitation to the 50th Anniversary International Convention at Cleveland, Ohio, in June 1991.

Ruth Arbeiter of Gorham presided and league members elected officers and adopted new mission projects.

The district consists of 101 societies with 2,939 members, whose goals are to promote mission inspiration, education and service.

New officers elected were: Vicky Davis, president; Ednor Letha Long, vice president for mission education; Mary Gray, vice president for mission service; Norma Schumacher, corresponding secretary; Wilma Heller, financial secretary; the Rev. Mark Etter, pastoral counselor.

A goal of $32,000 was set for eight projects. They include: $4,000 for bicycles for evangelists in Africa; $5,000 for Camp Wartburg; $3,000 for Crisis Pregnancy Center; $5,000 Father's Center, East St. Louis; $5,000 for a van for Our Savior Lutheran Church and Student Center; $3,000 for Lutheran Bible Translators; $6,000 for Seminary Students Scholarships; and $1,000 Lutheran Braille workers.

Ladies Coterie hosts former Mrs. Missouri in first meeting

Ladies Coterie held its first meeting of the fall season in the parlor of the First Presbyterian Church on Sept. 20. Twenty-three members were in attendance.

Mrs. Richard Schwendemann, president, was in charge. The invocation was given Mrs. Harold Briggs and Mrs. Alfred Pape led in the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag of the United States of America. In the absence of the Program Chairperson, Mrs. Raymond Horn, Mrs. Dawson Wade introduced the guest speaker Mrs. Jean Denny Schwendemann, daughter-in-law of Mrs. Richard Schwendemann. Jean Denny won the title of Mrs. Missouri in 1981. She is a former radio personality and TV anchor, producer and reporter for the CBS Television affiliates. Jean is currently associated with Missouri University at Columbia as an adjunct instructor in communication presentations for public relations classes. As a professional speaker, Jean travels across America training Business Women in Communication and Leadership Skills. Her presentation centered around assisting Ladies Coterie members in learning about their winning personalities. Club members participated in a personality assessment discovering their own personality style and how to flex with other personality styles.

Organizations

Mrs. Jean Denny Schwendemann awarded a book entitled "Powerful Leadership Skills for Women" as a door prize to Mrs. W.C. Watkins. The business meeting followed the program. Mrs. David John presented the budget for 1990-91. There are 27 active members, seven associate members, and two honorary members. Year books were distributed by the secretary, Mrs. Leonard Oram. Mrs. Harold Briggs and Mrs. William Albers were appointed co-chairmen of the Centennial Committee. The Ladies Coterie received a Certificate of Award from the GFWC Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs in recognition of outstanding achievements in Membership Increase. The president and secretary attended the District 22 meeting at Rosewood Heights Aug. 9. Special recognition was given those members who had birthdays in June, July, August and September. Those honored were Mrs. Dawson Wade, Mrs. Vasil Vasileff, Mrs. John Kenner, Mrs. Charles Delps, Mrs. David Friedman, Mrs. Raymond Horn, Mrs. A. C. Stoever, Marguerite Barker, Mrs. Joseph Bilbrey, Mrs. Charles Lexow, Mrs. E.F. Reiske, Mrs. Peter Novacich, and Mrs. Richard Kagy.

Dessert and coffee were served to the membership by the hostess, Mrs. Dawson Wade. The membership repeated the Lord's Prayer and the meeting was adjourned at 2:40 p.m.

Eagles Auxiliary hears state membership report

At the first September meeting of Eagles Auxiliary 1126 Membership Chairman Florence Hagnauer gave a membership report from the State Conference that was held in Springfield, on Sept. 7 and 8. Vincent Zerlan reported on the meetings which were held on the conference.

The meeting was opened by President Ruth Jorgensen. Conductor Sharron Gase presented the flag and placed the Bible and the motherhead on the altar. The secretary read one new application for membership. She also read several letters announcing appreciation weekends that have been held in Decatur and Benton and will be held in Aurora, on Oct. 19, 20 and 21. She also read a letter announcing the two state, Illinois and Indiana, conference that will be held in Muncie, Indiana on Oct. 5, 6 and 7.

Angie Buehler announced that the Escort Team will be selling Avent Calendars in November.

Irene Schweirjohn announced a chicken and beer dance will be held on Oct. 6 for the sports.

Good of the Auxiliary was won by Mary Mize and Vera Johnson Jackpot winner was Brenda Dooley. She was not present and, therefore, there was no winner.

President Ruth Jorgensen also announced that the Past Presidents will be honored at the last meeting to be held Oct. 23.

Meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by the hostesses Joanna Spencer, Del Deloney and Judy Weatherford.

Friends of museum planning luncheon

The Friends of the Madison County Historical Museum will meet for luncheon on Wednesday, Oct. 10, at 11 a.m., at Rusty's Restaurant, 1201 N. Main St., Edwardsville.

The program will be presented by Rosemary Seifried, owner of Rosemary's Quilt Shop in Highland, who will talk about quilts. A business meeting will also be held.

After lunch, the group will go to the museum to view the quilt and coverlet exhibit. The exhibit will be on display until Oct. 28.

Luncheon reservations can be made by calling Lucille Hopkins, 656-1023, by Saturday, Oct. 6.

The museum welcomes visitors Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., and on Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. pre-arranged Group tours are welcome.

Volunteers are needed to help in the museum and further information concerning the volunteer program and the museum may be obtained by calling 656-7562.

We're Sorry! In this week's Stock-Up Sale circular, page 11, we advertised the Aerostep 600 Stepper from Weslo. Due to the manufacturer's inability to ship, this item will not be in stock. Rain checks will be issued, and at this time we will also substitute the D.P. Algometer Stepper at the same sale price of 199.99. The D.P. item has a regular Venture price of 299.99.
Also on page 11, we advertised the Aero 800 fan bike from Weslo. Due to the manufacturer's inability to ship this item, it will not be available until Wednesday, October 3rd. Rain checks will be issued.
On page 18, we advertised Nintendo System game cartridges. Due to a printing error, the price of the Who Framed Roger Rabbit game should be 19.99, not 9.99 as listed.
We apologize for any inconvenience this may cause you.

Warriors win tourney opener

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Despite playing something less than its best game, the Warrior soccer team got the Tournament of Champions off to a good start Monday.

Jay Robertson scored early in the second half and Brian Buske added the clincher in the final minutes as Granite City (10-2) won its sixth straight game 2-0 over Chaminade in a Group C game at The Gauntlet. The Warriors and Oakville (a 5-2 winner over Hazelwood Central) took the early lead in Group C play. Granite City will play Hazelwood Central on Wednesday at 8:30 p.m.

"We didn't play all that well," said Warrior coach Gene Baker. "We were just hyper and the play was too hurried at times. We usually go side to side very well, but it was goal to goal all night tonight. We had trouble putting three passes together."

Chaminade had something to do with that. This is the best Flyer team in a few years. But Robertson broke the ice just 48 seconds into the second half on an assist from Skip Birdsong.

Robertson hit a left-foot volley to the far corner past Flyer goalie Jeremy Lark for his fourth goal of the year.

Chaminade's best chance came with 12 minutes left in the game when junior Barry Williams fanned on a shot while trying to redirect a pass from point-blank range. Warrior goalie Tim Henson also made four saves.

"This was one of Tim's better games," said Baker. "And Brian Buske did a great job on Sage McCullar, who's a very good sophomore. Brian stuck to him like glue."

Buske's good defensive work paid off in the clinching goal with just 1:19 left in the game. He pounced on a Chaminade mistake. The ball was cleared back to Lark, but he was unable

Career bests give harriers third

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

HAZELWOOD, Mo. — Career-best times from the two top runners, a key new addition and a tiebreaker gave the Warrior cross country team third place in the 15-team Hazelwood East Invitational on Saturday.

Junior Lance Reynolds ran the 3.05-mile course in 16:08, by far his best time ever, to take eighth place individually. Reynolds has been working out at SIUE to prepare for the regional, and the extra work paid off.

"I've been going out to SIUE after our practices with my dad and I'm running the hills there to get ready for the regional," said Reynolds. "The extra running has helped me a lot. I could really feel the difference today."

Justin Stallings also recorded a personal best as he completed the course in 16:56, which was good for 26th. The most pleasant surprise was the performance of senior Larry Strader, who finished 32nd with a time of 17:00 in his first appearance of the season. Strader is one of the captains on the Warrior soccer team and has run track the past few seasons. He would be a key addition for the regionals.

"I'd like to see him run with us more often, but it's a meet-to-meet thing with him playing soccer," said Warrior coach Dave McClain. "Larry is a strong competitor in both soccer and cross country."

The Warriors had their top five finishers medal. Brian Seiz was 34th (17:11) and Brian Reed was 35th (17:13).

"The boys were better prepared today, but we're still not at our best," said McClain. "We haven't peaked yet, and I hope we can at regionals and sectionals."

Moore comes back in a big way

By Mike Kelly
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Chris Moore is back, and opposing defenses better pay attention.

The junior broke loose for 163 yards on only six carries in the first half Friday as East St. Louis buried the Granite City Warriors 49-6. Moore, who had only 312 yards in the first four games, scored three touchdown in the opening half, including the game's first score on a 72-yard run just 1:06 after the kickoff. He added touchdown runs of 19 and 23 yards and also had a 43-yard gain.

Journal ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

For his efforts, Moore has been named East Side Publications' Journal Athlete of the Week.

"Tonight's game was a typical Chris Moore outing," Moore said. "I've finally put the burdens that slowed me down behind me. I had some nagging injuries (ankle and groin) and the extra weight I put on during the summer zapped my quickness. But I was 100 percent tonight, and I told the team before the game that I was ready to play."

It's been a trying year for Moore, who rushed for more than 1,300 yards last season. But he has played second fiddle to his childhood friend Hickey Thompson of Althoff in 1990.

"I'm very happy for Hickey," Moore said. "I saw him play against Lutheran North last week and he had a great game. But I would still like to catch him. Unfortunately, I don't get to play the entire game because we usually put our opponents away at halftime."

Chris Moore
huge first half

The slow start bothered Moore, but he never lost confidence in his abilities.

"It was just a case of everything falling into place," Moore said. "Sure, the extra weight (17 pounds) took away some of my quickness during the first four games. But I've made the adjustments to carry that extra weight. I feel much stronger now, and my quickness has returned."

The Warriors would agree.

Others considered for Athlete of the Week were Granite City cross country runner Lance Reynolds, Cahokia cross country runner Jacky Johnson and Cahokia volleyball player Ricki Goff."

(Each week the Journal sports staff picks one varsity athlete from Granite City, Madison, Venice, Cahokia, Dupo, East St. Louis or Lincoln high school as the East Side Publications Journal Athlete of the Week. Selected athletes become eligible to be named the Journal-KSHE Athlete of the Month.)

The Granite City Park District will hold a co-ed volleyball organizational meeting at 7 p.m. Oct. 4 at the Brown Recreation Center.

Entry fees will be accepted at the Wilson Park office beginning Oct. 5. The leagues will be played on Monday evenings at Lincoln Place Community Center and Coolidge Junior High School.

For more information, call Ray Hoffman at 877-3059.

Cardinals face many off-season questions

Rob Rains

The 10 most important off-season questions facing the Cardinals:

1. Will they re-sign Vince Coleman? The Cardinals will attempt to sign Coleman, but how serious the attempt will be is unknown. If they don't raise their current offer, it's highly unlikely Coleman will be back in St. Louis except as a visiting player. While Bernard Gilkey has shown some ability in September and should be a good major league player in time, he is not yet ready to replace Coleman. If the Cardinals are going to field a competitive team in 1991, they have to re-sign Coleman.

2. What position will Todd Zeile play next season? Lately Zeile has backed off his "I don't want to play third" stance. He even started two double plays from third last week. The Cardinals would like for him to play third, allowing them to keep Tom Pagnozzi as the starting catcher. If they decide Zeile can't handle third and has to catch, look for Pagnozzi to be traded. Zeile also possibly could wind up at first if Pedro Guerrero is dealt.

3. If Zeile catches, who plays third? The Cardinals hope they don't have to find an answer to this question. If they do, the most logical candidate is Craig Wilson, who has played well on a limited basis this year. It isn't out of the question, but is unlikely, that Stan Royer could win the job with a big spring training. He thinks he is ready, but the numbers from this year suggest he needs at least half a season in Class AAA Louisville.

4. Will Ken Dayley be re-signed? This again, like Coleman's situation, depends on the offer. Dayley would like to stay, but not if another club offers a lot more money. Dayley also has not been happy about the way he has been used lately, more as a setup man, and likely will try to go someplace where he can be a closer. If Dayley leaves and John Tudor retires, the Cardinals will need to find another lefthander for the bullpen to go with Frank DiPino.

5. Will the Cardinals sign any other free agents? Other than Darryl Strawberry and a couple of starting pitchers, there aren't any premier players available who likely would interest the Cardinals. However, the fans expect the club to do something to show them they are trying to win again in the near future. And the club will have money to spend that it saved by not signing Willie McGee and Terry Pendleton.

6. Should they trade Guerrero? This is sure to be one of the hot talk-show topics in the coming months. Guerrero is signed through next year, and likely does not fit into the Cardinals plans beyond then. The guess here is they will try to move him to an American League club if they can get a younger power-hitting first baseman (can you say Fred McGriff?) in return. If not, they will hold onto him and try to trade him down the stretch next year.

7. Will they buy out Ozzie Smith's contract, or trade Jose Oquendo? Geronimo Pena has to be on the club next year because he is out of options. Does that mean he plays second base or sits on the bench? The Cardinals would like to have more offense out of their middle infielders, and Pena has the potential to provide it. Smith has publicly said he doesn't know where he fits in the Cardinals' plans, and maybe they will take some of the free-agent money they are saving to eat the last $2.5 million of his contract. That would allow Oquendo to move to short and Pena to play second.

8. Should they trade a starting pitcher? It is possible any of three could go in the right deal — Joe Magrane, Jose DeLeon and Bryn Smith. Of the three, Magrane has the most value and the most risk involved because he still could develop his unlimited potential. The belief is he is not as untouchable as he was a year ago, and that DeLeon and Smith, despite lesser values, are more likely to go.

9. What influence will Whitey Herzog have in the organization? The answer to this question probably already is known as well, and the answer is an unfortunate none.

Basketball meeting slated for Oct. 9

The Granite City Park District will hold a basketball organizational meeting at 7 p.m. Oct. 9 at the Brown Recreation Center.

Entry fees will be accepted at the Wilson Park office starting Oct. 10. The leagues will be played on Wednesday and Thursday at both junior high schools in Granite City.

Granite City's third-place finish hinged on Mark Chapman. The Warriors ended up tied with Parkway South with 135 points. But Chapman's 40th-place finish was 15 spots better than South's sixth runner. Jefferson City, the defending Missouri state champions, easily took first with 33 points as Sam Wells won the event in 15:20. Civic Memorial's Wally Gregory was a close second at 15:26.

Golf

Granite City had one of its worst outings in Nashville on Friday, but came back with a fifth-place finish in the Mascoutah Invitational on Saturday.

The Warriors shot a 175 Friday, with Joe Brewer leading the way at 40. Chris Sturdivant fired a 44, Bill McCormick a 45, and Steve Rains and Gabe Mitchell both carded 46s. Nashville won with 158 and Belleville West shot 161.

West nipped Belleville East 310-312 at Mascoutah. Mascoutah's Ryan Florek led all golfers with a 71. Granite City shot a 329. Rains' 81 led the team, followed by Sturdivant and Allen Ledbetter (82) and McCormick (84).

Volleyball

The Lady Warriors went 1-2 in the Collinsville Invitational on Saturday. Granite City lost to eventual tournament champion East St. Louis 15-5, 15-13 and also were defeated 15-6, 15-3 by Illini Central. The Warriors (2-10) did manage a 15-6, 15-3 romp over East St. Louis Lincoln. East St. Louis beat Mascoutah for the championship, while Illini Central beat Red Bud for third place.

to handle the pass. It bounced off his hands and off the post. Buske was right there to tap in his third goal of the year.

The Warriors had one other goal by Brent Dippel disallowed in the third quarter on an offsides call.

"The players thought it was a good goal," said Baker.

Go For The Gold

Autumn Is A Bright, 'Sweet' Season

By Janice Denham
Journal Food Editor

The mark of sweet success is based on the gold standard. Pears, goldeh apples and honey are spun with golden color that matches autumn leaves. If this brilliance doesn't dazzle you, there is another mint to be tapped with golden raisins, peaches and pumpkins.

Even if olive, taupe, persimmon and charcoal gray are stylish this season, once October arrives sunset-yellow and mustard-gold take priority on the color palate.

Start with the sweet touch of honey, naturally sweeter than sugar. Flavor salad dressing with it. Throw in a few mustard seeds for good luck. Suddenly the flavor is next to gold in brilliance. For a bright salad dressing that can be used on greens or fruit, combine ¼ cup olive oil, 4½ teaspoons Dijon mustard, 1 tablespoon white wine vinegar and 1 tablespoon honey until well mixed.

When using it in baked goods as a replacement for sugar, reduce the amount of liquid in the recipe by ¼ cup and add ¼ to ¾ teaspoon baking soda for each cup of honey used. Cut the oven temperature by 25° to avoid overbrowning.

When it comes to golden fruit, they all take the cake. Ripe fruit is at its juiciest and sweetest because the sugar in it has had time to mature. So put it in a paper bag, then close it loosely at room temperature to speed up the ripening. Once it is cut, dip fruit in a mixture of 1 tablespoon lemon juice—golden, of course—and 1 cup water to preserve its colorful disposition.

When choosing a pumpkin for the porch, hearth or kitchen, select one that is firm without soft spots to keep it for a Halloween showpiece and Thanksgiving pie. By marking a scary face on it, instead of cutting it, it can be steamed or baked, then pureed to be used in any baked good that calls for canned pumpkin.

Apples are habit-forming this time of year. To feature them in salads, try a classic Waldorf using low-fat vanilla yogurt instead of mayonnaise. Or combine them with carrots, bean sprouts, celery and onion, then top with a reduced-fat ranch dressing and a dash of soy sauce. For a touch of class, mix apples with thinly sliced fennel and chopped almonds, then top with French dressing.

Plum And Honey Tea Bread

2 cups flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. nutmeg
¾ cup buttermilk
½ cup honey
2 tbsp. oil
1 egg, beaten
2 to 3 fresh plums or 1 large pear, chopped (½ cup)
½ cup chopped walnuts

Combine flour, baking powder, baking soda, cinnamon, nutmeg and salt. Mix well. Combine buttermilk, honey, oil and egg. Mix until blended. Stir liquid mixture into dry ingredients. Fold in plums and nuts.

Pour into greased 9-by-5-inch loaf pan. Bake at 325° for 50 to 55 minutes until wooden pick inserted near center comes out clean. Cover top with foil after 25 minutes to prevent overbrowning.

Makes 12 to 16 servings.

Muffin variation: Fill 12 muffin cups three-fourths full. Bake at 325° about 20 minutes until wooden pick inserted near center comes out clean.

Frozen Honey Yogurt

2 cups milk
¾ cup honey
Pinch salt
2 eggs, beaten
1 pt. plain yogurt
1 tbsp. vanilla

Heat, but do not boil, milk. Stir in honey and salt. Pour small amount of hot liquid into eggs. Return to milk mixture. Cook and stir over medium-low heat 5 minutes. Cool thoroughly. Stir in yogurt and vanilla. Refrigerate until cold.

Turn into 13-by-9-inch metal pan. Freeze until firm, stirring every 20 to 30 minutes.

Makes about 1 quart.

Apple Griddle Cakes

1½ cups flour
½ cup golden raisins
3 tbsp. sugar
1 tbsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup applesauce
¾ cup milk
2 eggs
2 tbsp. margarine or butter, melted
Warm applesauce, if desired

In medium bowl, stir together flour, raisins, sugar, baking powder and salt. In small bowl, beat together applesauce, milk, eggs and margarine. Stir into dry ingredients just until moistened.

Using scant ¼ cup batter for each pancake, cook on greased nonstick griddle or heavy frying pan, turning once, until brown on both sides. Serve with warm applesauce.

Makes 14 pancakes.

Fresh apple flavor grows fill autumn spotlight

The apple is one of nature's most versatile fruits. Thanks to the time-honored craft of home food preservation, its fresh homegrown apple taste can be enjoyed all year long. Whether they are dried or made into preserves, apples' distinctive flavor makes delicious eating whatever the meal.

These recipes use the apple as their primary ingredient. Ideal as a spread for breakfast or brunch, Apple Preserves liven up buttered toast or homemade muffins.

Get the morning started with a nutritious and flavorful bowl of steaming Apple and Oat Breakfast Mix. Prepare batches in advance and save time and money by storing them in jars in the pantry. Sweet yet tangy, Apple Preserves Coffeecake is a tasty and wonderfully rich addition to a special breakfast on a brisk fall day.

To dry apples, select any tart, firm-textured apple, such as granny Smith, Jonathan or McIntosh. Wash, peel and core. Cut in ⅛- to ½-inch slices or rings. Pretreat by dipping into an ascorbic acid mixture. Dry at 130° to 135° until pliable.

Apple preserves

6 cups peeled, cored, sliced apples
1 cup water
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1 pkg. (1¾ oz.) powdered pectin
½ cup thinly sliced lemon, (about 1 medium)
4 cups sugar
2 tsp. nutmeg

Prepare home canning jars and lids according to manufacturer's instructions.

Combine apples, water and lemon juice in large saucepan. Simmer, covered, 10 minutes. Stir in pectin. Bring to rolling boil, stirring frequently.

Add lemon slices and sugar, stirring to dissolve sugar. Return to rolling boil. Boil hard 1 minute, stirring frequently.

Remove from heat. Add nutmeg. Skim foam, if necessary.

Carefully ladle into hot jars, leaving ¼-inch head space. Adjust cups.

Process 10 minutes in boiling water bath canner.

Yields about six (8-ounce) jars.

Apple and oat breakfast mix

2 cups quick oats, uncooked
1½ cups chopped dried apples
⅔ cup chopped pecans
⅓ cup brown sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon

Combine oats, apples, pecans, brown sugar and cinnamon. Pack into jars. Store on shelf.

Yields 2 pints.

To serve, bring 2 cups water to boil. Stir in 2 cups Apple and Oat Breakfast Mix. Cover. Reduce heat. Simmer 8 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes.

Yields about 6 servings.

Apple preserves coffeecake

Base

2½ cups flour
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup butter or margarine
½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. baking soda
½ tsp. salt
½ cup dairy sour cream
2 tsp. vanilla
1 egg

Filling

1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
½ cup confectioner's sugar
1 egg
1 tsp. lemon juice
4 tsp. grated lemon rind
1½ cups apple preserves
1 cup reserved crumb mixture from base

Grease and flour bottom and side of 9- or 10-inch springform pan.

Combine flour and sugar. Using pastry blender or fork, cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Reserve 1 cup crumb mixture.

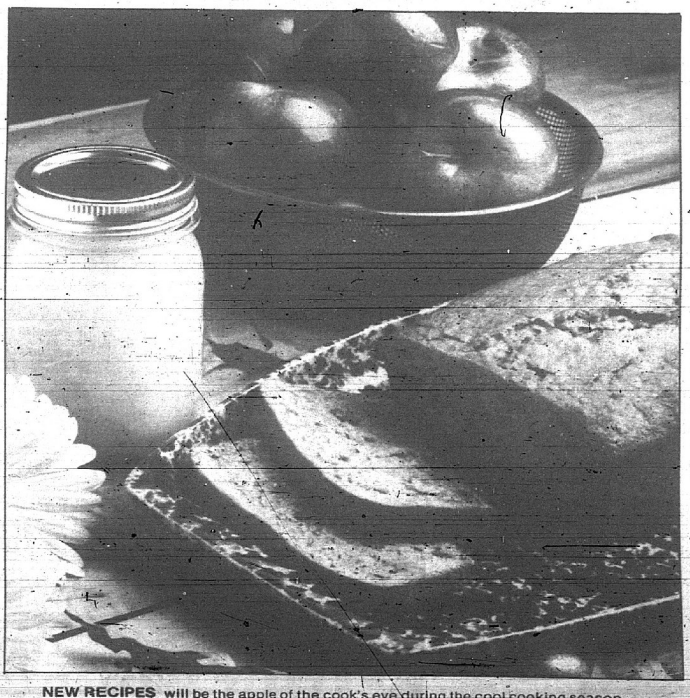

To remaining mixture, add baking powder, baking soda, salt, sour cream, vanilla and egg. Blend well. Spread batter evenly over bottom and 2 inches up side of prepared pan.

In small bowl, combine cream cheese, confectioner's sugar, egg, lemon juice and 2 teaspoons lemon rind. Blend well. Pour mixture over base. Carefully spoon apple preserves over cream cheese mixture.

In small bowl, combine reserved crumb mixture and 2 teaspoons lemon rind. Sprinkle over apple preserves.

Bake at 350° for 45 to 55 minutes or until cream cheese filling is set and crust is golden brown. Cool 15 minutes on wire rack. Remove side of pan. Refrigerate leftovers.

Yields about 16 servings.

NEW RECIPES will be the apple of the cook's eye during the cool cooking season.

Brown baggers carry variety of super lunches like heroes

The appearance of a new crop of super-hero lunch boxes marks a new school year. Yet kids are not the only people carrying lunches today.

With the pressures of time, the pinch of budgets and concern about nutrition, a growing number of white collar workers are toting their midday meal in anything from brown bags to briefcases.

Studies show that 63 percent of Americans brown-bag occasionally, and the average brown bagger does so twice a week. Bringing food from home allows them to eat foods they want, in the amounts they want, prepared the way they want.

To keep brown bag meals in line with the American Institute for Cancer Research's dietary guidelines, follow a few simple tips:

- Eat a variety of foods each week. Avoid a routine of nothing but tuna or peanut butter and jelly or any one item every day.
- Include foods with dietary fiber, such as fruits, vegetables and whole grain bread.
- Limit the amount of high-fat foods, such as luncheon meats, butter, margarine and mayonnaise.

It also is important for overall nutrition to watch the amounts of salt and sugar consumed. Choose low-sodium foods — such as fresh fruits and vegetables, lean meat and poultry — most often. Remember that beverages and desserts are often the worst culprits when it comes to excess sugar and fat at lunchtime.

Today some 70 percent of employed Americans have access to a microwave at their workplace, creating endless ways to expand the variety and nutrition of brown bag lunches. Not only can wholesome leftovers from home be enjoyed, but many new frozen and non-frozen microwaveable meals can be used. Just be sure to read ingredient labels and buy only those that are lower in fat, sugar and sodium.

Registered dietitian Karen Collins reviews this material for the American Institute for Cancer Research in Washington.

Recipe winners give incentive for a heartier style of eating

By Janice Denham
Food editor

The American Heart Association's Food Festival celebration in September should not be over. It should be a beginning.

Better eating habits that lighten the fat load in daily meals and snacks can lead to a healthier lifestyle, according to members of the St. Louis Chapter of the American Heart Association. Ways to do this include replacing whole milk cheese and cheese spread with lower-fat cheese, letting spices carry flavor instead of using butter, gobs of fat and cream cheese, and broiling, grilling or pan-broiling meat instead of frying it.

Winners of the Quick 'N Easy Recipe Contest, co-sponsored by the Journal, received their prizes from the Heart Association, Olive Garden Italian Restaurants, and National, Schnucks or Dierbergs stores.

Nifty Nachos is the prize winner in the appetizer category. Submitted by Dana Hohenstein of Manchester, Mo., its level of "heat" can be controlled without ~~ruining its heart-healthy status~~ by adding or subtracting chopped tomato, chopped pepper or pepper sauce.

In the school lunch category, the winner is Complete Muffins, which also make a quick pick-up breakfast for a person on the run. Ann Stahlschmidt of St. Charles, Mo., sent in the recipe.

The family of Rosemarie Kroscher of Manchester, Mo., likes the flavor of Dreamsicles, so her winning Orange Julius Caesars are a perfect low-fat rendition that will impress guests as well. Oranges are easy to empty with a scoop. They can be served set tight and frozen in a bowl with sides for a beautiful presentation.

Nifty nachos

5 (8 inch) flour tortillas
2 medium tomatoes, peeled, seeded, chopped
1 can (4 oz.) diced green chili peppers, drained
½ tsp. chili powder
Several dashes pepper sauce
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded mozzarella cheese

Stack tortillas. Cut whole stack in 8 wedges to make 40 pieces. Spread evenly in single layer on 2 medium baking sheets. Bake in 375° oven 5 to 10 minutes until wedges are dry and crisp.

In small mixing bowl, stir together tomatoes, peppers, chili powder and pepper sauce.

Spoon tomato mixture over wedges. Top with cheese. Broil, one baking sheet at a time, 4 to 5 inches from heat about 1½ minutes or until cheese is melted.

Slide onto serving platter. Serve at once.

Makes 8 servings; 106 calories, 3 gm. fat, 8 mg. cholesterol and 105 mg. sodium each.

Tester's note: Use more tomato, if desired, to lessen hot taste of peppers and create more tomato mixture.

Complete muffins

2 or 3 bananas, mashed
1 cup high-fiber cereal, crushed
1 cup orange juice
¼ cup oil
1 egg
1 cup flour
½ cup whole wheat flour
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup honey
2 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt

Grease bottoms only of 12 medium muffin cups. Mix banana, cereal and orange juice. Let stand 5 minutes. Beat in oil, egg, sugar and honey. Stir in flour, baking powder and salt just until moistened.

Divide batter evenly among muffin cups. Bake 20 to 25 minutes at 400° until light brown. Immediately remove from pan.

Makes 12 muffins; 180 calories, 5 gm. fat, 23 mg. cholesterol and 140 mg. sodium each.

Tester's note: Nutritional analysis was made using an "all-bran" cereal. Muffins are as delicious cold as warm. Orange and banana flavors keep one from overpowering the other. Recipe may make more than 12 muffins, depending on size of muffin cups.

Orange Julius Caesars

6 medium oranges
1 pt. frozen vanilla yogurt
1 pt. orange sherbet
Sprigs of fresh mint for garnish

Cut off tops of oranges. Scoop out pulp, reserving for other use.

Fill orange shells with alternate scoops of frozen yogurt and sherbet. Mound the top.

Place oranges in muffin tin. Freeze until ready to serve.

Garnish with fresh mint to serve.

Makes 6 servings; 150 calories, 1.4 gm. fat, 7 mg. cholesterol and 62 mg. sodium each.

Tester's note: These are pretty and refreshing. The oranges are not difficult to hollow.

Bake biscuits using the microwave

The key to tender baking powder biscuits is using the right proportion of liquid to dry ingredients. Dough will be sticky from too much liquid, while biscuits will be hard and dry from too little liquid.

Using a microwave oven to bake biscuits adds another trick to the problem because there is little time for the leavening to work and overbaking is seconds away.

To microwave 6 biscuits, place biscuits in circle on microwave-safe plate lined with two microwave-safe paper towels. Cook 2 to 3 minutes, rotating plate one-half turn after 1 minute, until they are no longer doughy. Let biscuits stand 1 minute before serving.

Bananas join moist brownies in multiple-level celebration

Fudgy brownies are always good. Add creamy, ripe bananas, a layer of chewy oats and nuts, and their worth rises to sensational.

Bananas add mellow flavor and moisture to the chocolatey batter, which is simply poured over an oat crust. It's a great way to transform a simple packaged brownie mix into a delectable, double-layer dessert or snack.

Bananas and oats contribute potassium and fiber, too, making Fudgy Banana Brownies more nutritious for a lunch box sweet. To whet appetites with appeal at home, slice them in diamond shapes and serve on a platter with fresh fruits.

Fudgy banana brownies

- 1½ cups quick oats, uncooked
- ⅔ cup packed brown sugar
- ¾ cup chopped almonds
- ½ cup flour
- ¼ tsp. baking soda
- ½ cup margarine, melted
- 1 very ripe, medium banana, pureed (⅓ cup)
- 1 firm, medium banana, chopped
- 1 pkg. (21.5 oz.) fudge brownie mix

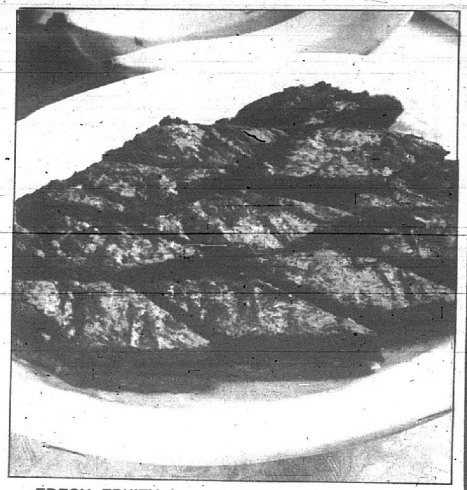

In bowl, mix together oats, sugar, almonds, flour and baking soda. Stir in margarine to form crumb mixture. Press evenly in bottom of 13-by-9 inch baking pan. Bake in 350° oven 10 minutes.

Prepare brownie mix according to package directions, substituting ½ cup pureed bananas for water and stirring in chopped banana.

Spread batter over partially baked crust. Return to oven and bake according to package directions, extending baking time about 5 minutes.

Cool. Cut in bars.

Makes 32 bars; 192 calories, 2.5 gm. protein, 8.8 gm. fat, 27.5 gm. carbohydrate and 114.2 mg. sodium each.

FRESH, FRUITY bananas add a bunch of goodness to a fudge brownie mix baked on an oat crust.

Recipe

New potato salad

- 3 lb. new potatoes
- Salt and pepper
- ½ bunch parsley, chopped
- 2 bunches green onions, chopped
- 1 carton (24 oz.) cottage cheese
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- ½ cup plain yogurt or dairy sour cream
- ½ cup slaw dressing
- Hard-cooked eggs

Cook unpeeled potatoes in boiling water until barely fork-tender. Drain well. Cut in thin slices. Season with salt and pepper.

Mix together parsley and onion. Mix together mayonnaise, yogurt and slaw dressing.

Layer ingredients in the following order: Potatoes, onion mixture, cottage cheese and mayonnaise mixture. Repeat layers. Refrigerate, covered, up to 3 days.

To serve, garnish with sliced hard-cooked eggs.

Drain cabbage well before using in slaw

To avoid watery coleslaw made with a sweet mayonnaise dressing, drain and blot the shredded cabbage very well before adding the dressing.

Reduced-calorie mayonnaise is more likely to cause watery dressing because it already has a high water content and may separate after ingredients are added and mixture is stirred.

The longer coleslaw is stored, the more watery it will become.

Recipes

Steamed eggplant salad

- 1 large or 2 small eggplant (about 1 lb.)
- 3 tbsp. cider vinegar
- 3 tbsp. light brown sugar
- 2 tsp. sesame oil
- 1 tbsp. soy sauce
- ½ to 1 tbsp. grated ginger root
- 1 tsp. finely minced garlic, if desired

Remove stem from eggplant. Peel skin; leave it on if eggplant is freshly picked and very young and tender. Cut in 6 or 8 wedges. Spread on steamer to allow bitter juice of eggplant to drain off.

Steam eggplant 8 to 10 minutes over high heat until tender. Eggplant is tender when fork or chopstick pierces easily. Remove to serving dish.

Thoroughly mix vinegar, sugar, oil, soy sauce, ginger and garlic in small bowl or jar. Mix well with eggplant to serve.

Makes 4 servings.

Lentil confetti salad

- ½ cup uncooked lentils, washed, drained
- 2 cups cooked brown rice
- ½ cup low-calorie Italian salad dressing
- 1 medium tomato, chopped
- ½ cup chopped green pepper
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 2 tbsp. chopped celery

In saucepan, bring lentils and 1½ cups water to boil. Reduce heat. Simmer 20 minutes or until lentils are tender. Drain.

Combine rice, salad dressing, tomato, green pepper, onion and celery in medium bowl. Add cooked lentils. Toss well. Chill.

Yields four (1-cup) servings, 4 gm. fat and 245 calories each.

Chinese plum-glazed microwave chicken

- 4 fresh plums, sliced
- 2 tbsp. sugar
- 1½ tsp. ginger root, minced, or ½ tsp. ground ginger
- 2 chicken breast halves, skinned, boned
- ½ tsp. pepper
- ½ tsp. paprika

Combine plums with sugar and ginger in microwave-safe dish. Sprinkle chicken with pepper and paprika. Arrange on top of plums. Cover dish with plastic wrap, venting one edge.

Microwave on medium power 5 minutes. Baste chicken with juices. Rotate dish one-quarter turn. Microwave 5 to 7 minutes more on medium power. Let stand, covered, 2 to 3 minutes.

To serve, arrange chicken breasts on plates. Spoon plum sauce on top.

Makes 2 servings, 261 calories each.

Fresh Pineapple Salad

- 1 medium fresh pineapple
- 1½ cups thin strips cooked ham
- Crisp lettuce
- 1 jar (6 oz.) marinated artichoke hearts, drained, reserving marinade
- Mushroom-Caper Dressing

Twist crown from pineapple. Trim and cut fruit lengthwise in quarters. Remove core. Cut fruit in spears. Chill.

To serve, arrange lettuce on 4 chilled salad plates. Arrange pineapple on lettuce. Center with ham strips and garnish with artichokes. Serve with Mushroom-Caper Dressing.

Makes 4 servings.

Mushroom-Caper Dressing: Put marinade from artichoke hearts in jar. Add 2 tablespoons oil, 1 tablespoon juice from pineapple, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon liquid from capers, 10 drops pepper sauce, ¼ teaspoon paprika, salt to taste and 1 teaspoon chopped capers. Cover and shake well. Add ½ cup sliced small fresh mushrooms. Makes at least 1 cup. Let sit at least 1 hour before using.

Merry Mac salad

- 2 cups uncooked elbow macaroni
- 2 cans (7 oz. each) tuna, drained, flaked
- ½ cup diced green pepper
- ½ cup sliced ripe olives
- ¼ cup oil
- ¼ tsp. pepper
- ¾ cup vinegar
- ½ cup ketchup
- 1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
- ¾ tsp. salt
- ¼ tsp. onion salt
- ¼ tsp. celery salt
- 1 small tomato, sliced

Cook macaroni according to package directions. Drain in colander. Rinse with cold water. Drain.

Combine macaroni, tuna, green pepper and olives.

Mix oil, vinegar, ketchup, Worcestershire sauce, salt, onion salt, celery salt and pepper until well blended. Mix with macaroni. Add tomato. Toss lightly.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Originality will be considered, although the recipe need not be original. If possible, name the source of the recipe.

Thought of holiday fare leads to cookie contest

Dorothy A. Anderson of Belleville is the winner of certificates from the Pasta House Co. for her submitting her recipe for Zesty Carrots.

It is a good autumn recipe that can baked in the oven at the same time as an entree like meatloaf.

Entries during October may become winners in November, so it is time to send in cookie recipes that can be shared in time for holiday baking. Any type — including drop, bar, refrigerator or cooked — is welcome.

One recipe for each household may be sent to Cookie Recipe Contest, 1215 Fern Ridge Parkway, Suite 108, St. Louis, Mo. 63141. It should be postmarked by Oct. 31.

All winners during November will be chosen from these entries, so an entry may be considered a possible winner any of the four weeks that month by sending in a single recipe.

Type or print the recipe legibly on one side of the paper. Include name, address and telephone number on the entry. Name the Journal you receive. Be sure to double-check the recipe as it is written for both amounts and directions, including any variations that make this dish special.

If there is a history to the recipe, it will be considered part of the entry. It will be part of the basis for selecting winners, along with taste and eye appeal.

Winners are notified by mail. Duplicate entries will be considered on the basis of earlier entry or best compliance with the rules. Contest winners may enter again six months after their prize-winning publication date.

Zesty carrots

- 6 to 8 carrots, cut lengthwise
- ¼ cup water
- 2 tbsp. grated onion
- 2 tbsp. prepared horseradish
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- ½ tsp. salt
- ¼ tsp. pepper
- ¼ cup cracker crumbs
- 1 tbsp. butter or margarine
- Pinch paprika

Cook carrots until tender. Place in shallow baking dish.

Combine water, onion, horseradish, mayonnaise, salt and pepper. Pour over carrots.

Combine cracker crumbs, butter and paprika. Crumble over carrot mixture. Bake at 375° for 15 to 20 minutes.

Yields 6 servings.

15th anniversary chili cook-off set for Oct. 13

Most 15th anniversaries are celebrated with gifts of crystal. There will be one Oct. 13, however, that will be marked with steam and bowls of hot food.

Anyone who wants to join the party for the National Kidney Foundation's Missouri Chili Cook-Off should come equipped with stewing pot, recipe and seasonings. The competition and taste-testing will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at West Port Plaza, Page and I-270. Entries will be taken until Oct. 8.

More than 100 cooking teams are expected to compete for the top prize of $500 and two airline tickets from St. Louis to California to compete in the International Chili Society's world championship. Cash prizes and trophies will be awarded second and third place teams.

A $100 showmanship award will be awarded a team that excels in a fun type of pageantry, rather than cooking. This includes costumes, booth and overall effect.

American Airlines, Busch Beer, KMOX Radio, Chilli Man Chilli, Coca Cola, Dawn dishwashing liquid, Pepto-Bismol, Pevely Dairy and 7-Eleven are sponsoring the event.

To register or for more information, call the National Kidney Foundation, 993-4363 or toll-free (800) 727-0240. A $50 entry fee includes a one-year mandatory membership in the International Chili Society.

Entry into the event itself is $1, with donations for tastings to benefit the National Kidney Foundation of Eastern Missouri and Metro-East.

Herbed cold meat marinade

Combine ½ cup oil, 3 tablespoons wine vinegar, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, ½ teaspoon seasoning salt, ¼ teaspoon basil leaves, ¼ teaspoon pepper and pinch of garlic powder.

Use to marinate sliced cold cooked roast beef, steak or pork roast.

Recipes

Hot Or Cold German Potato Salad

- 6 medium potatoes
- 6 slices bacon
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 2 tbsp. flour
- 3 tbsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. salt, if desired
- 1 tsp. celery seed
- ½ tsp. pepper
- ¾ cup water
- ¼ to ½ cup wine vinegar

Microwave potatoes placed in circular pattern 15 to 18 minutes on high power. Let stand, wrapped in foil, 10 to 15 minutes.

While potatoes are standing, cook bacon on meat rack covered with paper towel 6 minutes on high power until crisp. Drain bacon, reserving 2 to 3 tablespoons bacon drippings.

In large bowl, microwave bacon drippings and onion 2 minutes. Add flour, sugar, salt, celery seed and pepper, stirring to blend. Add water and vinegar. Cook on high power 2 to 3 minutes.

Remove eyes and bad spots from potatoes. Peel, if desired. Slice. Add potatoes to sauce. Cook 2 to 5 minutes until hot. Crumble bacon and sprinkle on top. Stir. Serve hot or cold.

Makes 6 to 12 servings.

Wilted Spinach Salad

- 6 slices bacon
- ½ lb. mushrooms, sliced
- 1 lb. spinach, well washed
- 1 avocado, chopped (optional), or 2 tomatoes, chopped
- ⅓ cup chopped green onion or scallion
- 2 tbsp. oil
- 4 tbsp. lemon juice
- 2 tbsp. wine vinegar

Arrange bacon on meat rack. Microwave, covered with paper towel, on high power 6 minutes until bacon is crisp. Crumble and set aside. Reserve bacon drippings.

In large bowl, combine mushrooms, spinach, avocado and tomato. Add crumbled bacon.

Place bacon drippings and onion in large measuring cup. Microwave 1 to 1½ minutes until onion is soft. Add oil, lemon juice and vinegar. Microwave 30 to 60 seconds.

Pour dressing over spinach mixture. Salt and pepper to taste. Toss and serve immediately.

Makes 6 to 12 servings.

Chinese pepper steak

- 1 lb. top round steak, ¾ to 1 inch thick
- 1 tbsp. cornstarch
- ½ tsp. sugar
- ½ tsp. ginger
- ¼ cup soy sauce
- 3 medium green peppers, cut in thin strips
- 3 small tomatoes, cut in wedges
- 2 tbsp. oil
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- ¼ cup water

Partially freeze steak to firm, then slice it diagonally across grain in very thin strips.

In small dish, combine cornstarch, sugar, ginger and soy sauce. Place meat in medium bowl or pan. Pour cornstarch mixture over it. Toss well. Let sit 20 minutes.

Heat oil in frying pan or wok. Quickly brown beef strips one-third at a time. Remove from pan. Reduce heat. Cook green pepper, garlic and water in pan 5 to 6 minutes until pepper is tender-crisp. Stir in meat and tomatoes. Heat through.

Makes 4 servings, 13 gm. fat and 281 calories each.

Cloverview gardeners travel to Worden home for luncheon

For their September meeting members of Cloverview Garden Club journeyed to Worden to the home of Marlene Brokaw who was hostess to the group.

A 1 o'clock dessert luncheon was served to Lois Cruse, Lucille Etheridge, Ceil Johnson, Ruth Knapp, Marge O'Neill, Lu Tabor and Veronica Williamson. The meeting was opened with the reading of the club collect and president Tabor called the roll, each member answering with a garden jingle. The Show and Tell exhibits were vacation souvenirs.

Announcement was made of a flower show to be presented by five clubs in District V celebrating St. Clair County Bicentennial. It will be held at St. Luke's Parish Center, Belleville on Sept. 29. There will be a District V, Garden Club of Illinois Inc. board meeting at Shoney's restaurant, Collinsville at 10 a.m. on Oct. 18.

All club presidents and past directors will be honored on President's Coupcil Day on Oct. 25 at St. Mary's Parish Center, Trenton. Host club is Trenton Tumbleweeds. The program will be "Gems of Blue — Eastern Bluebirds" by Max Forbes, Granite City, and Tom Hayden, Collinsville.

Organizations

A report was given on the progress of the flower bed at Lake School. Planting of ajuga ground cover and weeding has been done on a regular basis. A new civic project has been created with members sewing lap robes for patients at Colonial Care Center under the supervision of Ceil Johnson.

"History of the Apple Industry" was the text of the program by Lu Tabor. She stated apples have been a favorite fruit for 2½ million years. Scientists studying the ruins of Stone Age villages in Europe have found the charcoal remains of apples.

By 300 B.C. the Greeks were growing several varieties of apples. Ancient Romans also cultivated the fruit. They spread various kinds of apples throughout England and other parts of Europe during military conquests. The early American Colonists brought both apple seed and trees from England and as the settlers moved westward across America they took apples and seedling trees with them.

There are hundreds of varieties and they grow almost anywhere except the hottest and coldest regions. Their colors range from various shades of red, to green and yellow with flavors varying from tart to sweet. Apple trees belong to the rose family and have beautiful white flowers that bloom in spring and look like tiny roses. They are pollinated by insects and the reason why some growers place beehives in their orchards. Apple growers throughout the world produce about 2 billion bushels annually with Russia first in production, United States second, then France, China and West Germany. The apple is an important fruit and there are many uses for it. Trees can bear for as long as 100 years but most are replaced every 40 to 50 years.

Legion, auxiliary visit veterans hospital

Members of Venice-Madison Post 307 American Legion and the Auxiliary took a bus trip to the Marion Veterans Administration Hospital and Nursing Home on Sept. 22.

A musical program was provided by the Edgewood Opry Band from Edgewood.

All patients in both facilities were given bananas, apples, candy and long, white tube socks. Members visited with patients as they presented the gifts. Joseph Konieczny entertained the nursing home patients by playing the harmonica as the group walked through the halls.

The group also distributed magazines and books, jigsaw puzzles, crossword puzzle boards and ditty bags.

Following the hospital and nursing home programs and visit, the group traveled to The Haven on Crab Orchard Lake where a tour of the facility and dinner was enjoyed.

Attending were: Betty Wallace, Lettie Taylor, Al and Doris Zigler, Clarence and Pat Macke, Jim and Pauline Mersinger, Stan and Anne Lapinski, Frank and Angeline Baczewski, Nadine Marcus, LaVelle Stephens, Rose Cooper, Florian and Regina Kowalczyk, Pete and Evelyn Ferro, John and Rose Schwertmann, Dorothy Bergrath, Joseph Konieczny, and Kenneth and Dorothy Hinson.

The next bus trip has been reserved for Sept. 28, 1991. Chairman Dorothy Hinson made arrangements for the trip.

Minerva Women open club year

The Minerva Woman's Club of Granite City held its first meeting of the 1990-91 club year at the home of Fran Hold, with the club president, Barb Barr presiding.

The Ways and Means committee under the direction of Ruth Houser presented ideas for the annual Hobby Auction to be held Nov. 15.

Clara Parker gave a report on the presentation of the Minerva Art's Awards to graduating seniors: Jason Field, art; Kelley Kessler, speech; Tom Schmedake, band; and Cari McCallister, vocal. The awards were in the form of $100 US Savings Bonds.

Officers for the club year are: Barb Barr, president; Mary Dame, vice president; Sarah Metcalf, recording secretary; Marlean Manoogian, corresponding secretary; Marilyn Bodnman, treasurer; Margaret Rehagen, sergeant at arms.

Mystery prize was won by M. Rehagen. Other members present were Beverly Benoit, Cathy Busch, Helen Cook, Shirley Goff, Joyce Harris, Marilyn Schill, Mary Tarpeff, Rose Torosian.

The next meeting will be Oct. 4 at the home of Mary Tarpeff.

Channel 2 upgrading newscasts

Ian MacBryde

It may seem as if it is has taken forever, but KTVI-TV (Channel 2) apparently is getting itself prepared to re-enter the struggle for news ratings.

Not that the station ever really withdrew from the race, but it simply has not been a factor for several years. Channel 2 even canceled its 6 p.m. newscast in September 1988, surrendering in the face of miserable ratings. However, station management says the 6 p.m. newscast will be restored in January.

Now come personnel changes indicating Channel 2 is about to try to recapture respectability. Recently arrived Dana King is co-anchoring the 5-p.m. news with Don Marsh. King, who also is anchoring the station's new weekday midday news at 11:30 a.m., brings a solid air of authority to the 5 p.m. news to complement the always reliable Marsh.

Veteran Donn Johnson, who had been a co-anchor on the weekend newscasts, is working with Marsh on the 10 p.m. newscast. Johnson, who occasionally has appeared on the program in a substitute role, has shown an ability to blend his personality in with the quick-witted Marsh.

Although I am not a fan of "personality" in the news because too often it simply gets in the way of the journalism, in this case it works. Johnson has the 10 p.m. assignment through October, station management said. There is, of course, always the possibility that King will get the 10 p.m. duties after that, or that someone else could be drafted.

Kathryn Kiefer, who had co-anchored the station's 5 and 10 p.m. newscasts for about two years, has been re-assigned to the morning cut-ins at 7:25 and 8:25 a.m.

Sports anchor Mark Curtis has settled into his chair since his arrival in July. After putting aside what appeared to be initial uneasiness, Curtis has brought a laid-back manner to St. Louis sports. His approach, which seems to convey that sports is not necessarily as important as world peace, is attracting some positive attention from viewers.

For some time now, Channel 2's horrible news ratings have not been a fair reflection of the product. Those ratings may be about to improve.

Candidates and issues

You can count on KETC-TV (Channel 9) for information on issues and candidates as we near the November elections. Scheduled programming includes all at 7:30 p.m. unless otherwise noted:

Oct. 17: Candidates for the office of St. Louis County prosecutor.

Oct. 24: Candidates for Illinois' 21st Congressional District.

Oct. 30: (7 p.m.) A one-hour debate between the candidates for St. Louis county executive, incumbent H.C. Milford and County Prosecutor George R. "Buzz" Westfall.

18th century reenactment set for Oct. 6-7

PRAIRIE DU ROCHER — The annual French and Indian War Assemblage at 1700-era Fort de Chartres will be held Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 6 and 7.

The assemblage commemorates the last major conflict between France and Great Britain for control of North America. Participants in the event will be dressed as 18th century French and British soldiers and civilians.

Activities on Saturday will begin at 10 a.m. with the opening colors ceremony and the posting of the guard. Musket firing competitions will begin at 10:30 a.m. and run through 3 p.m.

French Folk singer Lynn Noel from Wisconsin will perform at 11 a.m. and again at 2 p.m. A period fashion show will be held at noon featuring styles from the 1700s.

The military unit drill competition will begin at 12:30 p.m. and a mock battle will start at 3 p.m. Saturday's activities will close at 4 p.m.

Sunday activities will begin with the raising of colors at 10 a.m. An officers' duel competition will start at 10:30 a.m., with a clay pigeon musket shoot starting a half- hour later. Noel will perform at 11 a.m. and again at 2:30 p.m. There will be another fashion show at noon.

Bayonet, drill, musket competition and artillery firing demonstrations will go on during the afternoon. Sunday's activities will close at 4 p.m.

The fort is four miles west of Prairie Du Rocher near the Mississippi River.

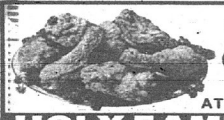

Pierre Menard's birthday to be celebrated Sunday

ELLIS GROVE — The Pierre Menard Home State Historic Site will host an open house from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 7, to celebrate the birthday of Pierre Menard, Illinois' first lieutenant governor, who was born in Canada in 1766.

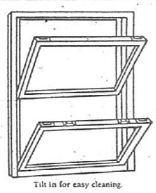

The event will be free.

The Pierre Menard Home is considered the finest example of French Colonial architecture in the central Mississippi River Valley. Located six miles north of Chester, visitors can reach the site via Illinois 3, turning west of Fort Kaskaskia Road.

Landlords live a nightmare in thrilling 'Pacific Heights'

Harry Hamm

People who own rental property may want to think twice before seeing "Pacific Heights" (¾), a thriller with a psychological twist directed by John Schlesinger.

Matthew Modine and Melanie Griffith play a pair of young professionals who have been dating for a long time and decide to move in together for economic and emotional reasons, although marriage is not on the horizon.

They take on a six-figure mortgage to purchase an old Victorian two-story home on the corner of a residential neighborhood in San Francisco. They plan to live on the second floor and rent out the rooms on the first floor, which they will make into two apartments when they rehab the structure.

Modine is careful about screening potential tenants. Although there is a tremendous financial pressure to get both apartments rented, he insists on background and credit checks.

The first and larger apartment is taken quickly by a pleasant Japanese couple. The smaller, studio unit is more difficult to rent out until a well-dressed man named Carter Hayes, played by Michael Keaton, pulls up in his Porsche and immediately commits himself to the unit.

Keaton appears to be an ideal prospective tenant. He is well-dressed, intelligent and flashes $2,900 in cash in his wallet.

But the smooth talking Keaton also is a bit evasive. He side steps the normal application procedure. Keaton says a oredit check would be OK except he is supported by a trust fund and really has not established a line of credit. Keaton hard-sells a verbal deal with Modine by promising to wire to Modine's bank account the first six month's rent the next day.

The money never shows up, but Keaton does — occupying the studio apartment in the middle of the night without permission and immediately changing the front-door lock. Thanks to Modine's gullible nature and California state laws, Keaton begins an insidious plot as Modine and Griffith learn sadly that their unwelcome tenant is a clever sociopath who has involved them in a potentially deadly scam.

The script of "Pacific Heights" has some holes. But if you don't look too closely, the film's theme is valid. Almost everyone has had to change a lock, handle an unwanted guest or deal with a break-in.

There are solid performances from all concerned. Modine and Griffith pair well. Keaton again shows that there is a lot more to him as an actor than comedic roles.

"Pacific Heights" has a swift pace, good comic relief, building suspense and a finish that will nail you.

Rated R (violence and language). Running time: 104 minutes. Rating guide: * excellent; , good; , average; *, poor.

Harry Hamm is entertainment editor for both KMOX-AM (1120) and the CBS Radio Network.

Art St. Louis VI opens Saturday at Centre

Art St. Louis VI, 1990, featuring the works of St. Louis regional artists, will be held this fall at St. Louis Centre in downtown St. Louis.

The exhibition, which will be in the gallery on the north end of the center's lower level, will open with a free reception from 7 to 10 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 6. The exhibit then will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday from Oct. 8 through Nov. 9.

There is a $2 admission fee, except for members of Art St. Louis and guests.

The show is presented by Art St. Louis, a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting the visual arts.

Designed as a "tribute to excellence," the exhibit's intent is to illustrate the scope of activity explored by St. Louis regional artists. Styles and subjects range from traditional to post-modern abstraction. The exhibition comprises paintings, photographs, print media, mixed media and a selection of works in fiber, clay, wood and metal.

An additional 18 artists were chosen by their peers to be featured in a concurrent exhibition, Artists Choose Artists, which is a new dimension to the annual show.

Those who wish more information may call Nina Guirl at (314) 241-1127.

Golden Harvest Days Oct. 13-14

BELLEVILLE — Eckert Farms on Oct. 13 and 14 will host Early American craft demonstrations from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

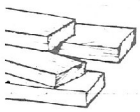

Entertainment will be provided on Saturday by George Portz and his bluegrass band from 1 to 4 p.m., and square dancing on Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m.

Also on Saturday there will be an AYH bike ride and on Sunday a 10K Volksmarch.

Pumpkins, a huge fall decoration display, as well as a straw maze, spook house, face painting, magic show and petting farm for children will be featured.

Those who wish more information should call 233-0513. Eckert's is on Illinois 15, east of Belleville.

Forbes speaks on bluebirds

Max Forbes
... addresses seniors

Max Forbes, a former vocational electricity shop teacher and bluebird enthusiast, spoke at a recent meeting of the Chouteau Township Senior Citizens Club.

Forbes spoke following a slide presentation titled, "Where Have the Bluebirds Gone?" by Tom Hayden, a well-known bird watcher and member of the Audubon Society.

Forbes spoke of how successful their program to re-establish the bluebird in the area had been and showed the type of boxes that have been used in that re-establishment.

Questions were answered and Forbes offered to help anyone interested in promoting the bluebird, or to choose an area for placing the boxes.

Cancer Society plans events

At a planning meeting of the Quad Cities Unit of the American Cancer Society, two fall events were announced.

Dr. John Uram, chairman of the annual bike-a-thon, and his committee, are preparing for an exciting bike ride on Oct. 20 at the Melvin Price Army Support Center. Prizes and refreshments will be given. Uram will be announcing detailed plans this month.

Another upcoming event is the 14th annual Great American Smokeout, planned for November 15, the Thursday before Thanksgiving. The Smokeout provides a light-hearted opportunity for smokers and users of smokeless tobacco to try to "kick the habit" for the day.

Barbara Mihalich, chairman of the Service and Rehabilitation committee, stated there is any urgent need for drivers willing to volunteer to transport cancer patients to and from their treatment areas. For detailed information, anyone interested may call Barb at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 798-3181.

For information on the Unit, call Callahan at 798-3510 or Barbara Mihalich, unit vice chairman at 798-3181.

THE REV. Willard Myers and his wife Bernice take advantage of the new wheelchair ramp built by members of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP).

RSVP wheels in help for longtime volunteers

By Maxine Duniphan
Correspondent

The Rev. Willard Myers and his wife Bernice of Margaret Avenue in Mitchell, who are no strangers to volunteerism, found themselves on the receiving end of good deeds recently when four members of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) arrived to build them a much-needed wheelchair ramp.

Mrs. Myers who has suffered since her teens with back and feet problems, awoke one morning to find she could not walk. Despite spending a month in the DePaul Hospital and ongoing out patient therapy she must spend most of her time in a wheelchair. Her husband suffers from congestive heart failure, making it difficult for him to maneuver the wheelchair.

After learning that Mrs. Myers was absent from her volunteer tutoring job at Grigsby Junior High School, where she works as a member of RSVP, Jerri Casson, program specialist for the Belleville Area College-sponsored RSVP, visited the Myers' home. She noticed the need for a wheelchair ramp. Cason then became the link between the Myers who had the need and the Chouteau Township RSVP unit which had the commitment and the brawn to do the job. Within a couple days the job was done.

The volunteers were LeRoy Stark, Carl Aldridge, Dave Ferguson and Zane Miller. The Myers said of them: "There is just no way we can truly express our gratitude to those four men who came out here in 101-degree weather to build this beautiful ramp for us."

Mrs. Myers a retired teacher from the Special Education Program, has volunteered as a tutor at Grigsby ever since her retirement. "I think I can get back to tutoring soon, I sure hope so. Now with the ramp, the wheelchair and the ACT Bus I think I can make it."

Cub Pack 15 presents outstanding leader award

Cub Pack 15, sponsored by Eagles Aerie 1126, held its September meeting at the Eagles Hall.

Cubmaster Tom Townsend asked Den 5 to present the colors. He lit the Spirit of Scouting Candle, which burned throughout the meeting.

John Valle, Webelo leader of Den 4, was presented an outstanding leader certificate by Townsend, from Aerie president, Jim Shepard. Townsend then introduced Pack 15 commissioner, Carolyn Smith, who gave encouraging words to the scouts. C.R. LeRoy Stark also spoke.

Organizations

Other announcements included the introduction of Mandy Hawkins as secretary and that the October meeting will be a Halloween party. Cub Scouts, parents and leaders are asked to dress for the occasion.

Assistant Cubmaster Jack Moenster and Townsend gave Fitness Day participant ribbons to:

7-year-olds: Justin King, Danny Forguson, Andy Schwierjohn, Mark Moulton and Phillip Matoesian.

8-year-olds: Joel Townsend, Robert Shipley, Joe Freeze, Ben Phillips and Denis Schwierjohn.

9-year-olds: David Margrabe, Jeff and John Ahlers, Robert Turner, Ryan Moenster and Justin Brinkmeyer.

A 2-year pin was presented to Jeff Lofink and camp ribbons were given to John Valle of Den 4 and Jack Moenster of Den 3.

A "welcome back" cake was then served to the pack.

Fall craft festival set in Florissant

St. Mark's United Methodist Church, 315 Graham Road, Florissant, Mo., will be holding its annual "Fall Craft Festival" on Saturday, Nov. 10, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Applications are now being accepted. Booth rental is $12 for a space with an additional $5 for an 8-foot table.

For more information, contact Sheila Whittington at (314) 895-1681.

Revival on way to New Salem MBC

New Salem Missionary Baptist Church, 1349 Klein St., Venice, will hold a revival Oct. 8-12, at 7:30 each evening.

The schedule for the week includes:

Oct. 8: the Rev. Lonnie Roberson, associate minister of New Salem;

Oct. 9: the Rev. Antwan Anderson, associate minister of New Salem;

Oct. 10: the Rev. Terry Harris Jr., associate minister of Shiloh M.B. Church, Centreville.

Oct. 11: the Rev. Paris Johnson, an 18-year-old associate minister of New Salem; and Oct. 12: the Rev. Frederick Wilson Jr., associate minister of Friendship M.B. Church, East St. Louis.

Lodges announce scholarships

Noble Grands Mary Rowland and Stanley Hoffman of Juanita Rebekah 477 and Six Mile Oddfellow Lodge wishes to announce that the Illinois Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, one of the world's oldest Fraternal organizations dedicated to service for the betterment of mankind, has funds available for several scholarship awards during the 1991/92 school year, for students who are residents of Illinois and citizens of the United States.

Scholarships will be awarded on the basis of financial need and scholarship ability and must be an average of "C" or above for students who will be attending an accredited college or trade school. There will be three, $1,000 awards, plus several awards of $500 each.

The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs are international fraternal organizations with approximately 15,000 members in Illinois. Projects of the Order include a Children's Home and Day care service in Lincoln, several apartment complexes for Senior Citizens and handicapped persons in Lincoln, Mattoon, Illiopolis, Buffalo and Williamsville serving nearly 400 persons. They also own and operate a 120-bed skilled-care nursing facility in Mattoon. Recreational projects include the Odd Fellow Lake and Campground, five miles north of Clay City.

Students interested in more information or a scholarship application form, may write to Robert A. Wick, Grand Secretary, Grand Lodge of Illinois, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, 305 N. Kickapoo St., P.O. Box 248, Lincoln, IL 62656.

Requests for applications must be received by the Scholarship Committee no later than Dec. 1, 1990. All applications will be mailed to students by Jan. 1, 1991.

Applications must be fully completed and returned to the Grand Lodge office before March 1, 1991.

University Women hold fall gathering

Delegates of branches of the American Association of University Women from central and southern Illinois gathered at Pere Marquette State Park on Sept. 22 for the annual Fall Conference. With the theme Mission Possible, keynote speaker JoAnn Horowitz told of new studies and projects to promote opportunities for girl students in the fields of mathematics and science. Horowitz, a 34-year member of AAUW, is a professor at the Illinois Mathematics and Science Academy, and was recently honored by the American Federation of Teachers for her work for women's rights.

Included in the day's program were a workshop entitled "Equitable Treatment of Girls and Boys in the Classroom," and information from consultant Elizabeth Dayton on the "Building Fairness" program of the Illinois Vocational Student Services Network, from an office in Belleville. Sue Sharp, public information chairman for the Illinois Division of AAUW, and other members of the Belleville Branch, presented a readers' theater, "Women of the West."

Collinsville Branch co-presidents, Maxine Mullins and Carol Moore, led a group of 10 delegates from the local branch. This group's next meeting will be Tuesday, Oct. 2, at the home of Carole Ryan, 8 Keith Court, 7 p.m. at which Adele Leskera will discuss "Lobbying." Guests are welcome, but should call June Mills, 344-0594. The branch includes the Edwardsville-Granite City area.

This brief mission statement defines the organization purposes: "AAUW promotes equity for women, education and self-development over the life span, and positive societal change." Membership is open to men or women with a college degree.
